Anti-war Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — No
United States involvement in the European war was the dominant theme of many student gatherings over the nation today in a "peace strike."
The demonstrations, held annually, were under sponsorship of the "Youth Committee Against War."

Ban Red Papers

CANBERRA (CP-Reuters) —
Sir Henry Gullett, vice-president of the Executive Council, announced today that within a fortnight all Communist newspapers
in Australia will cease publication. He said he had decided the censorship should treat Communist publications as enemy publications.

Flood at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Spring run-off of thaw water from a wide area north of Edmonton today caused flooding of several basements in north Edmonton and forced rerouting of some vehicular traffic.

New Japanese Drive

HONGKONG (AP) — Chinese
reports from the southern province of Kwangtung today say the Japanese are believed to be preparing a new large-scale offensive in south China.
It is said the Japanese have concentrated about six divisions of troops in Canton and environs.

War Ends Plane Link

LONDON (CP) — Resumption of British trans-Atlantic air service this year is now unlikely, it was learned from a reliable source this evening.
The two flying boats expected to be used have instead been employed by the Air Ministry on war service.

Decorated

BRUNSWICK, Me. (AP) —
Arthur M. Stratton, 29, Bowdoin College graduate of 1935, is the first American to win the French Croix de Guerre—with palms—in the war.
Word reached here this afternoon that the driver for the American volunteer ambulance corps had been decorated for "bravery in evacuating badly-wounded troops on the Western Front under heavy machine-gun fire and artillery fire."

Seize Danish Tanker

CAIRO (CP-Havas) — The 7,000-ton Danish tanker Asmark, coming from Bahrain, on the Persian Gulf, with a cargo of oil,
was seized today by Egyptian authorities and interned for the duration of hostilities. Three Norwegian vessels now are at Alexandria waiting for their status
to be straightened out.

Planes for South Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa
(CP) — The South African railways and harbors administrations signed a contract today with the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of Burbank, Calif., for a fleet of airliners costing $500, 000 ($2,225,000).

Nazis Claim Hit

BERLIN (AP) — A raid of German bombing planes on British transport just off the Norwegian coast tonight in which one British ship was hit by a "bomb of the heaviest calibre" was reported in a German statement.

Hutchison Speaks

VANCOUVER (CP) — War has accentuated and added the final touches to grave economic problems which Canadians have "refused to face realistically," according to Bruce Hutchison, Victoria journalist.

Speaking to the Vancouver
Women's Canadian Club here,
Mr. Hutchison said these problems will never be solved through any political program, party,
group or leader.

"Our success or our failure must come from we, the people," he said.

Hull Not Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Cordell Hull, whose name often has figured in speculation over possible Democratic Presidential nominees, today said he was not a candidate for anything.

Artist's Conception of British Landing at Narvik

Here is Artist Lou Biederman's conception of the landing of British marines and troops at Narvik, iron-ore port in Norway above the Arctic Circle. According to news dispatches the landing was made after the heavy guns of the British battleship Warspite had silenced

heavy shore batteries and enabled British destroyers to enter Narvik Fjord to sink seven German destroyers. The Warspite is depicted, left, covering the landing of troops as Royal Air Force planes roar overhead in pursuit of Nazi bombers, one of which is shown falling in flames.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

ROUND-UP

The "war of nerves" spread practically across neutral Europe
today as authorities in nonbelligerent countries rounded up German "tourists" and Nazi sympathizers who might constitute the crews of "Trojan horses."
The Netherlands declared martial law, presumably for at least the week-end which will start tomorrow on Adolf Hitler's 51st birthday anniversary.

PROTECTION SUSPECTED

Prime Minister Derek Jan de Geer broadcast a message to his sturdy little nation, saying the government hoped guarantees of Netherlands' neutrality by other powers were sincere, but that Holland, in any event, was determined to fight if need be.

The Dutch apparently were afraid Germany might be going to "protect" them against Allied designs for "aggression." That was the story the Wilhelmstrasse trumped up before it invaded Norway and Denmark, but offered to the world only after its troops had started to march.

MANHUNTS

In southeastern Europe the Balkan countries combed out spies and possible members of a German "fifth column" in one of history's greatest manhunts.
Laws were enacted quickly to restrict activities of foreigners and render them easier to watch.
Many were told to leave.

Holland took her action after police raided homes and headquarters of Nazi and Communist sympathizers and a newspaper said they had found stores of ammunition.

ALARM PERIODS

Queen Wilhelmina's dike-girl country has expressed three periods of alarm since the war started. One came at the very beginning when it seemed that Germany might march on France through Holland as she did through Belgium in 1914. Another came in November when Germany massed troops on the Dutch border.

Whether Hitler's threatening gestures are likely to benefit him appears doubtful. So far he seems merely to have antagonized all his neighbors, including some who previously were either friendly or sitting on the fence.

CARVE-UP

Rumania has given him only one-sixth of the oil she promised.
She has stopped selling him
wheat. And there is a suggestion that Yugoslavia is no longer willing to let him have her cattle, mainly because he has taken so much the Yugoslavs are threatened with a shortage.
All the menacing gestures, in which Italy also has been taking part, may presage some carve-up of small countries in the Balkans, perhaps accompanied by a simultaneous German blow at Holland to get bases closer to the United Kingdom.

BIRTHDAY WEEK-END

They may merely be a build-up to some economic demand by the Reich or Italy or both.

Anyway all the small countries
in Europe will suffer uncomfortable week-ends. Hitler likes to start trouble on week-ends, because, he theorized, people rest
then and it is a sound idea in a war of nerves to keep them in the jump.

His birthday celebration, also,
might include something unpleasant besides Nazi oratory.

Cromwell to Stay?

Secretary Cordell Hull took under advisement today whether James H. R. Cromwell, announced candidate for the United States Senate from New Jersey, would retain his diplomatic post as Minister to Canada.

OTTAWA (CP) — James H. R.
Cromwell, whose candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from New Jersey was announced today, told reporters here he would apply for leave of absence as American minister to Canada before opening his campaign in the fall.

If Mr. Cromwell is successful in his political campaign he will resign as minister to Canada before taking office as senator next January. If the Democratic administration is defeated in the November election, Mr. Cromwell said he would resign in any event, since the new administration no doubt would replace him.

Loss Report Fantastic

LONDON (CP) — Italian press reports that 6,000 British soldiers had been killed, wounded or made prisoner in fighting around Narvik, Norway, were described as "fantastic" in authoritative circles here today.

It was indicated the figure given in the Italian reports is probably in excess of the total number of troops landed at the time of the supposed engagement.

Support War Policy

SYDNEY, Australia (CP-Reuters) — The Australian Trade Union Council today voted 67 to 65 approval of the official war policies of the Federal Labor Party, which are to support the government during the war and maintain Australia as an integral part of the British Commonwealth.

LONDON CHEERS MEN OF HARDY

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill, speaking before a cheering throng on the Horse Guards' Parade, today told survivors of H.M.S. Hardy that they were the "vanguard of armies which we, and our French allies, will use during this summer to purge and cleanse the soil of the Vikings, the soil of Norway, from the filthy pollution of Nazi tyranny."

The First Lord of the Admiralty spoke at a welcome to about 100 men of the Hardy, back from Narvik, where their ship was grounded in the first battle of that far northern Norwegian port on April 10.

The Hardy's crew, which landed near Narvik when the rest of the British flotilla withdrew after that combat and maintained themselves ashore despite German occupation of the port, later were rescued by other British warships and returned to England.

"Your countrymen are well content with the manner in which you have discharged your duty,"
Mr. Churchill said.

The sailors rode from Euston
Station past lines of cheering Londoners in three buses to the Horse Guards' Parade, where the First Lord welcomed them.

The band of the Royal Marines played "See the Conquering Hero Comes."

AMPHIBIAN FORCE

The First Lord told the survivors that after losing their ship
"you did not hesitate, with rifles
in hand, to carry on the war, which proved the amphibian qualities of the British forces."

"The hard service of the destroyer flotillas has been freely given," Mr. Churchill said. "It has played a notable, indeed an indispensable part in securing the safety of our country during the opening months of this hard and obstinate war."

The seamen were dressed in everything from Norwegian ski suits to lumber-jack coats.
Thousands of workers homeward bound thronged the parade ground to cheer the unshaken crewmen. The survivors, waving kerchiefs and scarfs, wildly cheered "Old Churchill."

Seamen John Walters, telling of the engagement with the larger force of German destroyers, said "we kept on firing; they hit us and we knew it, but ... we just kept shooting."

Nazis Send Hospital Ship

STOCKHOLM (AP) — From Sweden's west coast came reports
today that a 10,000-ton German hospital ship had been sighted steaming northward toward Oslo.

10 NORSE SHIPS ARRIVE HERE

During the current week Norwegian merchant ships have been arriving at Canadian Pacific ports and placing themselves at the disposal of the Allied Powers.
To date 10 ships have arrived.
No Danish ships have yet arrived.

BOMBED ECLIPSE BACK AT BASE

LONDON (AP) — Damaging of the 1,400-ton destroyer Eclipse in a German bombing attack was disclosed today with the announcement the vessel had reached her base.

The attack was made some days ago. The communiqué described it as, "a near miss."

VOTE FOR REYNAUD

PARIS (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies tonight gave the government of Premier Paul Reynaud a unanimous vote of confidence.

The 504-160 vote came in a public sitting immediately after a five and a half-hour secret debate on general governmental policies and the conduct of the war.

It was the second vote of confidence for the Reynaud cabinet, which took office March 21. It contrasted sharply with the first vote, on March 22, in which there was only a one-vote majority,
though that later was increased by 17 votes by changes of stand by a number of deputies.

The chamber also adopted unanimously a motion of homage to the French armies and the Norwegian people.

M. Reynaud entered the chamber's one-day secret debate with his hand strengthened by an enthusiastic reception accorded his war policies by the Senate yesterday.

Nazi Planes Bagged

PARIS (AP) — The French
communique tonight said:

"Local encounters between French and German reconnaissance parties east of the Moselle (River) and in the neighborhood of the Oise (River). Artillery action in the latter district.

"Our fighters (planes) engaged enemy reconnaissance aircraft and brought one down in one line and forced another down out of control behind the enemy lines.

"All our airplanes returned to their bases."

Battle Lines Drawn At Trondheim, Oslo

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Norway,
with Allied aid, stiffened her resistance to the German invasion today as fighting the length of her tortuous western coast foreshadowed a major engagement in the Trondheim area and a determined stand inland north of Oslo.

Scanty accounts by Norwegian government sources and Swedish newspaper dispatches indicated
the Germans still were increasing the extent of their hold on southern Norway, but that the Allies and Norway had established contact and were preparing active collaboration against the Nazi invaders.

Tonsberg at the mouth of Oslo
Fjord was reported to have surrendered to the Germans yesterday.

FLY TO HAMAR

British officers were believed to have reached Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo, where the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing the capital. This was the first outward sign visible here of active Allied - Norwegian co-operation and probably meant the officers had been flown inland from coastal points where the British have made landings.

Hamar remained in Norwegian hands, but the arrival of German troops, moving northward in buses behind motorcycle patrols, was expected momentarily. Small tanks were observed in the south
moving toward Hamar.

Signs pointed to the abandonment of the town itself and the establishment of defence lines a short distance north.

Dispatches said the Norwegians believed they could hold out for some time near Hamar and Elverum, which also has been a temporary seat of the government.

FIRST CONFERENCE

The Norwegian legation here
said the first joint military conference of Norwegian and Allied leaders had been held at Norwegian military headquarters after contact had been established in the Trondheim area near the middle of Norway's fjord-cut Atlantic coastline.

There were reports a British landing would be attempted at Andalsnes, 100 miles southwest of Trondheim at the head of Romsdal Fjord. Such a move probably would be aimed at encircling Trondheim and gaining control of the railway which runs southeast to the region where

Doomed Nazis Trapped

A great test of Nazi power seems at hand in Norway as the British report 2,000 to 2,500 German soldiers trapped in the Narvik area shown in the map. British and Norwegian forces have apparently cut this German occupation force from contact with the main German forces by land and sea. (Acme telephoto).

Norwegian forces are resisting north of Oslo.

A German aerial attempt to take Namsos, 100 miles north of Trondheim, was thwarted by an Allied landing party in that region, the Norwegian legation said in an oral summary of the military situation.

FORCES READY

The summary pictured Norway's civil and military authorities as confident of being able to make a stand in defence of their present positions with Norwegian military mobilization completed
now.

There were indications that Allied expeditionary forces were in the Narvik region, though the exact status of the town was not clear.

Many civilians fled the northern ore port and severe suffering was reported among refugees whose skis were commandeered.
The invaders brought along white uniform coverings for use in northern operations. Food and other supplies of Narvik shops were taken over by the Germans.

From Stavanger and Bergen
the Germans were reported fanning out as they already have from Trondheim. One Norwegian garrison in the Hegra fortress, 25 miles east of Trondheim, was continuing to resist despite pounding from German artillery and aerial bombs.

The fortress, manned by about 100 men, is on the German-held railway line running eastward to the Swedish frontier.

Three other Norwegian fortifications also were holding off German siege forces—the Trostad and Hoetrup fortresses north of Oslo and Fossum fortress—50 miles southeast of the captured capital—all with well-stocked commissaries.

The Norwegians have established a battle line behind the Trostad and Hoetrup fortresses along the southern edge of three finger lakes, Mjolsa, Randsfjord and Sperillen which point toward Oslo.

Holland Declares Martial Law

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

THE HAGUE (AP) — Martial law was proclaimed throughout the Netherlands by royal decree today.

The decree, effective immediately, was issued after Premier Derek Jan de Geer had announced
in a broadcast to the homeland and overseas colonies that such a step was being taken to "anchor more solidly" the government's position in the face of external and internal dangers.

Authoritative sources said
there would be as little interference as possible with the civil administration, and that the extension to the entire country of martial law, which already prevailed in many areas, was largely a precautionary measure.

The government's purpose,
these informants explained, was to give the military power beforehand to deal promptly with any emergencies that might arise.

TO RESIST WITH ARMS

The premier declared in an earlier broadcast that the Netherlands will resist with arms, any attempt by a foreign power to extend "protective help" to the lowland country.

It was "protective help"
against a phantom Allied plot to intervene that Germany gave as a pretext for the Nazi invasion of Norway last week.

The premier appealed to the Dutch nation to keep calm and to maintain confidence despite anxieties lest the war spread to the low countries. He said that

"above all else, in these times, it must be our first duty to safeguard our neutrality."

ASSURED AID

"We have received assurances from both belligerents that they would safeguard this neutrality
of ours," he continued. "We trust this assurance can be relied upon."
"But in any case we wish to make it perfectly clear that we ourselves are perfectly able, as well as determined, to protect our neutrality."

"I wish to take this occasion to point out that Holland, at any rate, does not ask for, and is unwilling to accept the aid or assistance of any third power to maintain its neutrality."
He concluded that, "trusting in God, the government and nation will remain strong and defend their liberty."

WOULD MEDIATE

The Prime Minister said the Netherlands stood outside the conflict, and again offered the services of his government toward bringing about peace when the belligerents are willing to accept its good offices.

"We will maintain our neutrality toward all sides ... and no threats or allurements can make us deviate from this," De Geer said. "Any preventive help which it might be thought of giving us shall be resisted by force of arms."

The Premier's speech was the broadcast to Holland's colonial possessions in the East and West Indies as well as to the homeland.

In Holland's first crisis of the war, last November 1, a royal deree established martial law in key defence communities which included 500 of the country's 1, 200 smaller towns and villages.
That decree affected portions of seven provinces—north and south
Holland, Zeeland, Limburg, North Brabant, Gelderland and Fries-
land.

On January 14, simultaneously with a Belgian order for almost complete mobilization, the Netherlands government canceled all army leaves "in view of certain less favorable symptoms
in the international situation."
This brought the total Dutch armed force to 400,000 men.

AT FULL STRENGTH

On March 8 Defence Minister
A. Q. H. Dijkhoorn announced another decree extending martial law to the "greater part of the Netherlands" was in preparation, and on April 9, with rumors again in the air as to possible foreign invasion of the Netherlands, the government once more canceled
almost all army, navy and air force leaves and ordered guards placed at important public buildings.

Seize Munitions

AMSTERDAM (CP-Havas)—A detachment of gendarmes yesterday spent three hours in a minute search of the palace of the Nazi leader in the lower house of the Netherlands Parliament, Count M. de Marchant et d'Ansembourg, police revealed here today.

Other searches were carried out at Tilburg, where the homes of all local Nazi leaders were entered by police, at Breda and at Bois-le-Duc.

The newspaper Telegraaf, writing of the raids in general, said munitions caches were found, but no arms.

This activity followed reports of "Trojan Horse" tactics used by the Germans in Norway.

Balkans Hobble 'Trojan Horses'

By EDWARD KENNEDY

BUDAPEST (AP)—Germany was suspected in many quarters of the Balkans today of having rolled "Trojan horses" into the little southeastern countries.

The Reich, according to these circles, has embarked on a policy of sending thousands of Germans into southeastern Europe and making deals with disgruntled nationalists so that internal crises might be provoked and putches be attempted whenever such events might serve Germany's ends.

BIG DRIVES

Whatever Germany's aims, it is a fact that southeastern European countries are waging a relentless campaign to exterminate pro-Nazi elements suspected of preparing the way for an eventual German invasion. They have been acting after the German invasion of Norway.

Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania met the asserted threat by clamping a tighter control on all foreigners, and the last two countries went forward with plans to expel numerous Germans.

All three governments, and Turkey as well, were on the alert for nationals of pro-Nazi leanings.

EX-MINISTER ARRESTED

At Istanbul, a former minister of national economy, Sirri Belli, was under arrest, charged with lobbying among army, navy and government officials against Turkey's mutual assistance pacts with Great Britain and France.

In Hungary, police kept a close watch on former Premier Bela Imvodi, who has been accused of "playing the German game." Usually reliable sources, said that 1,000 German agents, 30 of them said to be operatives of the Gestapo — the German secret police are operating in Hungary.

Posters appeared in Bucharest warning foreigners they must deposit firearms, "war material" and photographic apparatus with the police within three days. Foreigners must also present themselves to the police and give a reason why they should be allowed to remain in the country.

NAZIS CLAIM MORE SINKINGS

BERLIN (AP)—A communiqué from the German high command today on the operations in Norway said:

"Enemy naval forces and transport ships preparing a landing north of Narvik were attacked by fighting planes and severely hit. One enemy U-boat was sunk instantly after being struck by a bomb. (There was no London report of the loss of a submarine.)

"Additional arriving units reinforced the German troops around Trondheim. There was no fighting.

"Regions occupied around Bergen and Stavanger were expanded in all directions. The day passed quietly in Kristiansand. In the Oslo region German troops swiftly advanced north-east and north-west. The region southeast of Oslo was quiet and occupied as far as the Swedish border.

"In this region (Oslo) alone, among the numerous and sundry booty, 83 guns, 80 machine guns, 20,000 rounds of artillery ammunition and 1,000,000 rounds of infantry ammunition were taken from Norwegian troops.

"The navy continued its U-boat hunt in the Skagerrak and Kattegat. Destruction of three enemy submarines was likely. (No attacks on submarines were reported in London.) Mine operations for protection of Norwegian ports and shutting off the Skagerrak continued.

"Sitting ammunition found in Norwegian ports, a large quantity of English war material, mines among it, was confiscated. "Speed boats on patrol in Hardanger Fjord destroyed one Norwegian torpedo boat.

"Augmenting the earlier reported torpedoing of a cruiser of the Glasgow class north of the Shetlands, the command of a U-boat which returned from a long-distance cruise reported that the cruiser, heavily protected by enemy destroyers, was destroyed by an internal explosion immediately after she had been struck by a torpedo. (No such action was reported in London.)

"Tonnage sunk by this submarine, under the command of Captain Hartmann, amounts to roughly 107,000 tons after his recent long-distance cruise.

"Reinforcements for the troops in Norway continued to arrive on schedule.

"In the west the day passed quietly.

Fifth Column Plot Bared in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (AP)—Discovery of a plot to overthrow the government of Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic was reported today in quarters close to the government following an announcement that former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic would be interned in a mountain fastness under heavy guard.

These sources indicated that success of the plot had hinged on entry of German troops into Yugoslavia. Stoyadinovic was taken into custody after a police raid on his home had disclosed documents linking him with Nazi "fifth column" activity in Yugoslavia.

DANGER TO PEACE

A cabinet communiqué drafted for publication in Yugoslav newspapers tomorrow said Stoyadinovic was ordered interned because "his activity was dangerous to the peace and order of Yugoslavia."

B.C. TO RENEW HIGHWAY SPANS

Four bridge-building projects have been authorized as part of the public works maintenance program; Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works, said today.

A new span at Koksilah River on the Island Highway, one at American Creek and one at Texas Creek on the Cariboo Highway, and another at Cypress Creek, North Vancouver, have been approved.

Mr. Leary said a number of bridges in the highway system are in need of renewal and every effort will be made to provide funds for them out of the maintenance vote. Those that cannot be rebuilt will be repaired to keep them in use.

British Trade Pact With Russia Soon

LONDON (CP)—Russian spokesmen in London today predicted Great Britain and Russia would soon conclude their long-discussed trade agreement, side-tracked by the Russo-Finnish war.

They said it was believed Russia's differences with Britain over the blockade—which have centred on the detention of two Russian ships by Allied naval forces in the Far East—could be composed and general relations improved, barring some unforeseen development.

Anglo-Russian trade discussions broke off when Britain sided with Finland in the Finnish-Russian conflict.

A Russian source said Russia's position now simply was one of wanting to be left alone, without helping one side or the other.

VETERANS NAME NEW OFFICERS

Thomas Jones was elected vice-president of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Victoria Unit, at the quarterly meeting held last night. J. S. Scarfe was elected to the directorate.

A standing silent tribute was paid to the memory of Major J. Eades Ward, provincial secretary-treasurer of the Army and Navy Veterans, who died suddenly. Major T. R. Wheadon, local unit president, was authorized to represent the branch at the funeral in Vancouver Monday.

The provincial command meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans will be held in Victoria tomorrow, it was announced.

The club set June 29 as the date for the annual picnic. It will be held at Deep Cove.

The financial report showed the club's financial standing was healthy. The executive was given power to take up the matter of new furnishings.

It was announced that J. C. Rivers, J.P., had been appointed honorary secretary of the Incorporated Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society of the British Empire, headquarters in London, England, the president of which is Field Marshal H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught.

J. G. Johnson and H. Haswell were elected to the grievance committee. Six new members were admitted.

Seized Tanker Used

NEW YORK (AP)—The captured German motorship tanker Biscaya, 6,369 tons, arrived this afternoon flying the red ensign of the British merchant fleet and bearing the name Empire Unity.

Prime Minister Chamberlain said last October 26 she had been captured, but gave no details.

The details of the plot, it was asserted, were discovered when police examined private papers seized in a midnight raid on the former premier's home on Tuesday.

Two of Stoyadinovic's followers who were members of his cabinet, Dobrovoye Stosovic and Djura Yankovic, are under close police watch on suspicion of participation in the plot. Quantities of documents found in their homes were examined by police, who also occupied the premises of the Serbian radical party which Stoyadinovic formed recently.

TAKEN TO MOUNTAINS

Stoyadinovic was ordered taken to the mountain village of Rudnik in a police car, accompanied by detectives and gendarmes armed with repeating rifles. Police cars bearing other armed men were ordered to lead the way and bring up the rear in order to forestall

With the Forces Soldiers Don't Want Silly Gifts

Soldiers who have been invalided back to Canada from training with the First Canadian Division at Aldershot all advise Canadians with soldier friends or relatives in England to stop sending "silly gifts."

They suggest such practical things as tobacco, cigarettes and cigarette papers. Tea bags and sugar bags are popular because the soldiers are not supposed to have these in the stores and they like to make tea over the fireplaces in Aldershot Barracks.

Always welcome as gifts are flashlights and batteries. The first letters home from the Canadians all revealed them suffering from the shock of the complete blackout. They were deluged with flashlights by return mail, but some haven't got them.

In the first group invalided home were 27 men and three officers. Private Fred Rogers of the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver, a gas victim of the last war who went down with pleurisy and pneumonia, said many of the boys from the coast went down with influenza and colds in the rigors of England's worst winter in years, but are all better now and impatient for action.

Rheumatism and arthritis sent some of the men back to Canada. And there were a few who having falsified their ages to get into the army, had to admit their legs would not stand up to the rigorous training.

WELL TREATED

The boys were all enthusiastic about the excellent treatment they received in England. Alfred Bond of Toronto unit is quoted as saying: they had everything they needed. There were three up-to-date theatres at Aldershot and when they went on leave the people treated the men like princes.

They were most appreciative, however, of the treatment accorded them on the way back.

"You might have thought," said one, "that they would have taken the attitude we were no good for the wars, and simply herded us back. But we had the best of everything. We had first class service all the way. At the place where our boat docked they were ready for us and treated us to a grand meal in the station. We were piped away by the Toronto Scottish Band."

KIND DONOR THANKED

A Vancouver soldier now overseas was surprised and touched to find a dollar bill tucked in each toe of a pair of hand-knit socks he received. He did not know who his kindly benefactor was, but wrote home about the incident. The other day his mother saw a reference to an old age pensioner, one of a group of war workers in Vancouver who had out of her meager allowance managed to spare a dollar for each toe of a soldier's sock. So the soldier's grateful thanks reached its destination.

Buy 1,500 U.S. Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain and France contracted tentatively yesterday to purchase more than 1,500 speedy American warplanes, expected to cost at least $120,000,000.

Described as probably the largest such purchases on record, they are the first of a series of projected orders for some 4,600 aircraft of the latest type developed for the United States army and navy.

any possible attempt by his followers to free the former premier. Police raids continued on the homes of other Stoyadinovic followers.

Action begun several days ago to investigate Germans established in frontier regions and suspected of being potential members of a Nazi "fifth column" also was intensified by police and gendarmes.

GERMANS ARRESTED

Sources close to the government recalled the recent arrest of 50 Germans in northern Yugoslavia near the German frontier. They were charged with measuring and mapping bridges, railroads, strategic highways and other military objectives.

Police at the time revealed the Germans had entered the country by presenting documents signed by Stoyadinovic when he was premier (from 1936 to 1939) giving them the privilege of "prospecting for oil."

60,000 Germans Now in Norway

LONDON (CP)—Germany is flying about 2,000 troops a day to Norway, it was estimated today by a Norwegian government official newly arrived in London.

German bombers have pursued King Haakon and his government in their flight from Oslo through the aid of "German espionage," the Norwegian charged.

The official, who reviewed the Norwegian situation in an interview under the sponsorship of the British Foreign Office, said seven bombing raids against the King and his government were carried out by the Germans.

On one occasion, he said, "I lay face down in a wood not 50 metres from King Haakon while the Germans bombed and machine-gunned the village of Neubergund, where we had hidden for an hour and three-quarters."

"We have lost Oslo, Trondheim and Bergen," he said, "but we do not feel it to be a decisive blow. The government has been re-established and has reassumed its full powers after the terrible first three days."

MAINTAIN ORDER ONLY

"As a practical measure we now have a committee in Oslo headed by Einar Christensen which is charged with maintaining order in the city and other occupied territory."

Christensen and his committee, he said, should "in no way be considered as placing themselves at the disposal of the Germans."

The Norwegian asserted that reports of betrayal of Norway to the Germans by Norwegian officers must be taken "with the greatest reservations," but acknowledged that Narvik, far northern port, was one point where "Norway was betrayed by agreement and not by accident."

Two men named ministers of the regime proclaimed in Oslo by Major Wikun Quisling, he said, were out of Oslo when appointed and both immediately offered their services to the King when they learned the true nature of the situation. Another Quisling minister, he said, was captured by Norwegian troops. (Quisling's regime passed out of existence with the formation of the Christensen committee in Oslo.)

Militia Men To Join C.A.S.F.

OTTAWA (CP)—Units of the nonpermanent active militia not yet mobilized will be given an opportunity of contributing reinforcements for mobilized units serving overseas under a plan announced today by Hon. C. G. Power, acting Minister of National Defence.

All militia units will be grouped with mobilized units of the Canadian Active Service Force in territorial regiments for the purpose of supplying reinforcements as required by overseas units. The scheme applies to all arms and services, but especially to infantry.

Thus all infantry units will be grouped in the following territorial regiments: The British Columbia Regiment, the Alberta Regiment, the Saskatchewan Regiment, the Manitoba Regiment, the Western Ontario Regiment, the Central Ontario Regiment, the Eastern Ontario Regiment, the Quebec Regiment, the New Brunswick Regiment and the Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island Regiment.

The Prince Edward Island Highlanders will be grouped with Nova Scotia infantry units to form the Nova Scotia and P.E.I. Regiment.

Quebec infantry units, if French-speaking, will be grouped in the Regiment de Quebec, and if English-speaking, in the Quebec Regiment. Territorial regiments will include all rifle, machine gun and tank units in the respective areas.

The continued and independent existence of the militia units will not be affected, and they will continue to bear their present names. All units in a territorial regiment will be permitted to contribute a proportional share of reinforcements required for battalions of their own territorial regiment serving overseas. Thus reinforcements required for the Hastings and Prince Edward regiments, now overseas with the 1st Division, will, in future, come on a proportionate basis from all infantry units in the eastern Ontario area.

The same principle will be applied to the other arms and services. If and when a divisional cavalry regiment is sent overseas reinforcements for it will come from other cavalry units in the same area. Pending the dispatch of cavalry units overseas cavalry units will be given the opportunity of providing quotas of reinforcements for overseas infantry units from their territorial areas.

When artillery reinforcements are required each military district will be called on to supply a quota and in turn the commanding officer of each district will call on each military unit in his district as well as localities from which artillery units have gone overseas to raise its proportion of the district quota.

Reinforcements for engineers, signals, army service corps, army medical corps and ordnance units will be raised on the same system as for artillery units.

Units employed on coast defence duties in Canada will also have a chance to dispatch personnel for overseas service in units of their respective armies.

The scheme, it is believed, will distribute to the widest possible extent the opportunity for service overseas.

Musical Festival Opens at Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—The 13th annual annual Vancouver Island Musical Festival opened here today and will continue until a week Saturday.

A large number of competitors have entered the festival which will be given over mainly to folk dancing among school children today and tomorrow. There will be no session Monday, but the festival will resume Tuesday.

Miss Nancy Ferguson of Victoria is adjudicating the dancing and next week Bernard Naylor of Cambridge, England, will adjudicate choral, vocal and instrumental competitions, while E. V. Young of Vancouver will hear elocution and drama contestants.

Entries from Cumberland, Courtenay, Union Bay, Royston, Duncan, Ladysmith and Nanaimo have been received for the dancing events.

Tuesday evening's session will bring together the Comox district theatre group and the Nanaimo Academy in competition for the Hugh Savage Cup.

British, Nazis Clash North Of Trondheim

LONDON (CP)—Allied manoeuvres, including the first reported engagement of British and German land forces in Norway, pointed today toward a head-on clash of belligerents on the Scandinavian battleground.

Reuters news agency reported from Stockholm that the first encounter occurred at Namsos, on the Atlantic coast 100 miles north of the key city of Trondheim.

Dispatches reaching the Swedish capital said the German forces had been repulsed. Swedish frontier reports said Namsos was the point picked by the British for their latest troop landings while Norwegian forces concentrated at Steiner 30 miles nearer Trondheim.

Apparently the Germans had been rushed north from the Trondheim region to meet the British landing parties.

The war office's second laconic communiqué since the spread of the war to Norway April 9 told yesterday of continuing debarkation of British troops on Norway's shores and of their contact with Norwegian forces and added that "operations are continuing."

A Norwegian communiqué, about the same time, said contact had been made with Allied forces "by both sea and land" and that the first Allied liaison officers had reached Norwegian army headquarters.

NORWEGIANS CONFIDENT

The communiqué, relayed from the Norwegian government somewhere in the north, said in part: "The government has received reports from the command of the Norwegian army in the north and north of Trondheim indicating mobilization has been completed and that the commanders of the Norwegian troops are of the opinion they can stand up to the German forces."

Meanwhile German forces were reported feverishly fortifying their positions against an Allied offensive at Trondheim, military key to central and southern Norway.

These reports, together with advice that Norwegian ski patrols are deploying to harass the thin line the Germans have thrown across Norway to the Swedish border on the Trondheim-Storen railway, give the blueprint for battle.

The struggle for control of the Norwegian skies is continuing between the Royal Air Force, the air arm of the fleet and Nazi fliers.

The British press expressed confidence that powerful naval forces flanking Norway could turn a victory for the Allied land forces.

GERMANS AT NARVIK FACE EXTINCTION—First complete story of how the British took Narvik after a Norwegian commander's treachery had given it to the Germans was told by Peter C. Rhodes, who was there when the Nazis came. On April 17 he reported German troops, completely cut off by land and sea, were mustered for a last desperate stand on the heights above Rombak Fjord.

Haakon Denounces Oslo 'Council'

STOCKHOLM (CP-Havas).—King Haakon of Norway issued a proclamation declaring the puppet Oslo administrative council was created by Germany "by brute force." He pledged an energetic struggle to drive the invaders
from the country and restore a free and independent Norway.

"Norway has only one government," said the proclamation, issued last night. "That is the government named by the King and enjoying the confidence of parliament."

"The formation of an administrative council at Oslo to administer the regions occupied by the Germans is explained by the present situation—a situation created by brute force which has violated
the legitimate rights of the country."

The Norwegian legation made public a proclamation by the Norwegian government from "somewhere in Norway" which declared the council of administration in German-occupied Oslo is "not representing the will of the Norwegian people and has no legal base in any Norwegian law."

Thanks to Nazis For 'Quisling'

LONDON (CP)—"Quisling"—
the name of the Norwegian major who formed a puppet government when the Nazis invaded Scandinavia—seems headed for the dictionary as synonymous with the word traitor.
The Times of London in an editorial today welcomed it as a "windfall" for the English language.

The newspaper said that it greeted it "as sincerely, as we detest the quality which it con-notes."

"Orally it contrives to suggest something at once slippery and treacherous," the Times said.
"Visually it was the supreme merit of beginning with the letter
Q which... long seemed to the British mind to be a crooked, uncertain and slightly disreputable letter."

GERMANY EXPELS NORWAY'S ENVOY

BERLIN (AP)—Germany ordered the Norwegian minister to Germany, Arne Scheel, to leave Berlin today.

The action was tantamount to breaking off diplomatic relations with the Norwegian government of King Haakon VII and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

The legation staff was ordered to leave with the minister.

Despite the German invasion of Norway, the German government had continued to receive Scheel as the envoy of a friendly power and had urged him to get his government to co-operate with the Germans.

Today's German version of the affair was that Scheel received instructions from the king and premier to remain at his post, but that the Germans had told him he must leave at once with his staff
"in view of the hostile attitude of King Haakon."

The Swedish minister, Arvid Richert, took over the affairs of the Norwegian legation.

MacPherson Urged To Succeed Manion

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—Some Conservative
M.P.'s-elect have been showing impatience for party reorganization by not waiting for Dr.
Manion to lay down the leadership mantle, but by opening up correspondence with Hon. M. A.
MacPherson, a white hope of the prairies.

They want Major MacPherson to contest either the by-election in Saskatoon, where Rev. W. G.
Brown died, or to come east and run in Carleton County, seat of the late Dr. A. B. Hyndman.

MacPherson's answer to both suggestions has been "no."

But that does not mean that MacPherson is out of the leadership picture. All that it means is that, acting in accordance with his conception of honorable conduct, he will not come into the picture until Manion—who still is party leader and can only be deposed by revolution, convention or voluntary resignation—decides
the course he intends to follow.
MacPherson will have nothing to do with any party revolution,
nor will he be a party to any anti-Manion cabals.

OVERLOOKED

Any proposal to have MacPherson contest the Saskatoon seat could only originate in political minds ignorant of Saskatchewan politics. For the rivalry between Saskatoon and Regina—the city
in which MacPherson lives—is something that no consideration of party expediency could overcome. It is a jealousy that dates back to the time when Saskatoon was passed over and Regina was chosen as the capital of the province. To ask the Saskatoon electors to return a Regina resident would be like asking the Chinese to go out and elect a Japanese general as president.

The Carleton County seat is different. Not only could MacPherson be elected there easily,
but it is even doubtful if the Liberals would oppose him. There is every indication the Conservatives of the riding would welcome him. It depends, however, upon what Leader Manion's future plans may be. At the moment the chieftain's office doesn't even know when he proposes to return from his southern holiday.

HOUSE LEADERSHIP RIVALRY

Meantime, the rivalry for the post of temporary house leader is taking a bizarre turn. The chief energies of aspirants, instead of being dedicated to promoting their own chances, are being concentrated upon thwart-ing opponents. Of the three main contenders—Karl Homuth
of South Waterloo; J. H. Harris of Toronto-Danforth; and Denton Massey, Toronto-Greenwood—the determination of each is not to capture the post himself, but that neither rival shall have it.

The explanation of this is twofold. First, the jealousy among the Toronto Tory M.P.'s. No Toronto Tory M.P. is anxious to see any other Toronto Tory M.P. chosen, for fear his own prestige might suffer. Then there is the long-term outlook. Presumably, Harris and Massey, who contested the Ottawa convention of 1938, still harbor leadership ambitions, as does Karl Homuth.
None of this trio is anxious to see his rivals installed in a post of temporary party authority that conceivably might carry with it advantage in the coming convention.

Under the circumstances, the stock of the one individual who has been mentioned in connection with the post, although not seeking it—A. C. Casselman, K.C., Chief Conservative Whip—is rising. Among the Tory M.P.'s who have visited Parliament Hill
during the past week there has been a growing disposition to regard Whip Casselman—whose Parliamentary ability has never been properly appreciated—as an acceptable compromise choice for the position.

Votes for Women

QUEBEC—The government's bill granting Quebec women the right to vote in provincial elections and be eligible as candidates for legislative seats, is before the Legislative Council, Upper Chamber of Quebec.

The measure, sponsored by Premier Adelard Godbout, was given third reading yesterday by the Legislative Assembly.

While the lower house was in committee of the whole, Maurice Duplessis, opposition leader, led a spirited attack on the bill.

Provisions of the bill, if approved by the council, will become effective next January 1.

IMPERIAL BANK'S USEFULNESS TO CANADIAN BUSINESS

PUSHING BACK THE FRONTIER

For generations the explorers and surveyors led Westward. To-day they lead to the North.

Imperial Bank of Canada opened its first Western Office in Winnipeg in 1881, before the arrival of railways. It crossed the prairies with the settlers —westward to the mountains and on to the coast. It established branches wherever business developments required.

To-day the Bank is pioneering still — pioneering
in the North, pioneering with the miners, foresters and settlers of the North Country. For them it provides full banking service and a link with the financial centres. For business men everywhere it provides facilities for doing business where new wealth is being produced.

Mr. Cromwell Speaks Again

UNITED STATES MINISTER JAMES H. R. Cromwell has been making another speech. This time to the Montreal Canadian Club. While it was less controversial, it has been nonetheless welcome in official Ottawa. For it has left the inference that Washington has no present thought of interfering with the existing "Reciprocity Treaty." On this point there had been apprehension in some federal circles.

The source of such anxiety has been the fact that the treaty contains an escape clause which either party may invoke if the respective currencies of the two countries get so out of line as to interfere with the free operation of the treaty. At present, the Canadian dollar which is quoted by the Exchange Control Board at an official discount of 11 per cent is selling in the free exchange market in New York at a discount of almost 20 per cent. Whether this situation might not sooner or later prejudice the status of the trade treaty between the two countries has been a subject of increasing discussion in governmental circles.

In his Montreal address, however, Mr. Cromwell was eulogistic in his references to the Reciprocity Treaty. In view of the controversy that his Toronto speech evoked recently, it is regarded as likely that the minister's Montreal remarks were submitted to the State Department at Washington for approval before he delivered them. On this assumption, his attitude towards the United States-Canadian trade treaty is viewed as significant.

Actually, Canada's intervention in the present exchange situation has constituted a concession to the United States exporter, although it is also true that his welfare has doubtless not been the major consideration in forming the policy. Regardless of the motive, Canadian importers are being furnished with United States currency at a premium of 11 per cent, instead of at the 20 per cent premium prevailing in the free market in New York. To the extent of the difference between these two premiums, therefore, the Canadian government may be described as facilitating necessary imports from the neighboring republic, and as helping to keep the trade under the treaty flowing two ways regardless of the currency situation.

Mr. Cromwell's Montreal speech otherwise is seen as a definite milestone in his progress as a diplomat. He made it no less clear than he did in Toronto that his sympathies lie with the democratic Allies. The only difference was that he presented his views in a form to which his critics in Washington could take no exception. In other words, the indication is that the Toronto speech was lesson No. 1 in Mr. Cromwell's diplomatic education, and that he absorbed it in a manner that testifies to his prowess as a student.

'Trojan Horses'

WHILE THE NORWEGIAN CAMPAIGN continues, with British troops pouring into the country at various strategic points on the coastline, police and military authorities of other small European countries are quietly but thoroughly investigating the "Trojan Horses" which the Nazi hierarchy has driven across several borders separating Germany from lands marked down for conquest. Already this activity has been notable for arrests and deportations, not only of "foreign tourists" who have emulated mythical precedent, but also of influential "natives" suspected of collusion in the application of the technique which furnished the element of surprise in the Hitlerian invasion of Denmark and Norway. In Holland and Belgium, in Turkey and Bulgaria, in Yugoslavia and Rumania, and in Hungary, governmental decrees are being enforced to the limit. If any "ground" had been prepared in either of these countries for the coming of Nazi legions, the war might have been decided. Consequently the longer the German High Command hesitates to capitalize on the work of its agents to date the slimmer will become its chances of surprising its selected victims.

It would be foolish, of course, to suppose that Hitler and his cohorts have exhausted their bag of nefarious tricks. They have had several years in which to concoct varied technique; they have seen how some of it has succeeded, how some of it has proved both clumsy and futile. In pre-Munich days the "boring-from-within" policy was prosecuted with a degree of subtlety which disarmed most peace-loving statesmen. It had the advantage of obscurity under those periodic declarations of peaceful intent with which Hitler assuaged the chancelleries of skeptical nations. The antecedents of the Anschluss, the "fine Italian hand" of Konrad Henlein in what then was the sovereign state of Czechoslovakia, the careful building up of an atmosphere in Poland which had been calculated to undermine the meaning of the 10-year nonaggression pact to which Berlin and Warsaw had subscribed at the beginning of 1934—all this was a "Trojan Horse" of an entirely different color.

After Nazi troops marched into Poland, however, the would-be ruler of Europe could afford to go the limit in the application of any and every trick which he might consider would serve his purpose. And it should never be forgotten that when one side elects, not only to ignore the most elementary of ethical considerations, but also proceeds to work overtime to discover new villainies, it is small wonder that advantages, temporary though they may be, seem to accrue to that side. But it can be said with equal certainty that as they are revealed—as in the case of infiltration of Nazi agents in Norway—they can be dealt with effectively, even if at considerable cost. And eventually the trickster runs out of tricks.

Military Value Only

ALTHOUGH IT ALWAYS WAS SUPPOSED that the peculiar economy of Denmark would serve as an effective safeguard for her neutrality, the virtual absorption of the country by Germany proves the fallacy of reliance on normally inexorable laws, not to mention the easy way the pledged word of a strong nation to a weak one is brushed aside when the latter stands in the way of conquest. As is well known, of course, Denmark for long has been a large exporter of butter, bacon and other dairy products to both Great Britain and Germany. But it was one thing for the Reich to desire to stop such supplies reaching Britain and quite another thing to try to reap all the benefits of Danish production for herself.

There is nothing intricate about the situation which Germany has now created for the Reich's larder—not to mention the complete change her invasion has wrought in Denmark's way of life—for Britain is able to cut off the supply of feed which the Danish dairy farmers have to import for their hogs and cattle. If this means anything at all, therefore, it means that German food imports will suffer to the extent of the shortage of the feed supply from now on. For it is scarcely likely that the Nazis have any scheme whereby they can hope to make up the deficiency by shipping feed from the east. Britain, on the other hand, has heretofore to buy more of Canada's bacon and butter and eggs to take the place of shipments hitherto made by Denmark.

For the Solarium

MEMBERS OF THE QUEEN Alexandra Solarium Junior League tomorrow will wait on the good folk of Victoria at the street corners in the hope that in these days of many and varied appeals to the public purse some small—or large—"change" may be spared to further the excellent work being carried on at the famous institution at Mill Bay. These young people are devoting a considerable amount of time and thought to the future of the Solarium, wondering how it may be possible adequately to supplement the financial assistance without which the fate of many crippled children may be sealed, and how, in short, the establishment's effective operation can be placed on a permanent economic basis without resort to the jingle of the collecting box to draw attention to its needs. The Junior League could address itself to no more worthy cause than to this haven of hope for handicapped kiddies, and we bespeak for tomorrow's taggers a generous response from the citizens of this community.

But There Comes a Time

REPORTS HAVE BEEN FILTERING into Paris recently which indicate that the Nazis in conquered and shell-torn war saw are pursuing a vigorous offensive against Polish intellectuals—against lawyers and doctors and educators and clergymen and engineers. These people just disappear from their homes. It is difficult to tell precisely what happens to them. Concentration camps for some; death for others. To those who are left, at an unhappy, captive people, conquerors have always acted thus, eradicating all possible leaders of revolutionary movements. What conquerors forget is that a righteous cause will generate its own leadership. No tyrant, however strong, has ever been able to hold an unwilling nation under his thumb for very long.

Propagandizing U.S.

From Financial Post
There are only two things the Canadian people want the Americans to understand. Neither of them can in any sense be regarded as propaganda designed to influence American opinion toward entry into the war.

1. We want the Americans to understand why we are in the war. We want them to appreciate the fact that this country declared war independently and because we wanted to be able to live our lives our own way. We believed that Hitler's legions directly threatened our own security and freedom.

2. We want Americans to know the nature and extent of our war effort; and to appreciate that while this war can not make us rich at least it will not impoverish us.

We owe an exposition of these points to the Americans.

1. Because as our neighbors who have voluntarily guaranteed our territorial integrity, they are properly interested in our participation in a struggle that started overseas.

2. Because the volume of trade across our mutual boundary line is the largest between any two countries in the world.

3. Because between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 Americans visit Canada yearly.

4. Because the American people have $4,000,000,000 invested here.

If clear-cut statements on these points are to be regarded as "propaganda" then the Americans may expect to hear propaganda from Canada occasionally. But how can such statements be regarded as propaganda when they are merely the answers to the questions that thousands of Americans are asking their Canadian friends?

Americans need not worry about any pressure from Canada to bring them into the war. The fact that Mr. Conant's outburst was more vigorously criticized in Canada than even in the United States should allay fears in that respect.

ACCURATE SCIENCE

THE ASTROLOGERS of the world have lately been casting up Hitler's horoscope and have come to a momentous conclusion. They say that in this year "anything may happen." The science of astrology is indeed uncanny. And while you can come to the same conclusion without the stars, even on an overcast night, while you may have come to the same conclusion long ago without the aid of supernatural powers at all, you didn't get paid for it. Astrologers are paid and therefore their science can be considered a perfectly sound enterprise, not to be scoffed at by the laity.

The interesting thing, however, is that Hitler believes in astrology. He believes in it to such an extent that he has stopped the German astrologers casting their unpleasant horoscopes and prevented his people reading such things lest they get dangerous ideas.

You may think it appalling that the world should be in the grip of men like that who believe such things. You may think only in Germany are there leaders who believe in horoscopes or fables. Ah, there you are wrong. Many of our best democratic statesmen believe in much less likely theories than the stars, but we won't go into that now.

All I say is that it is a fortunate thing the people cannot get inside the minds of the men who run their affairs and observe the contents. I have not known any statesmen who believed in horoscopes or tea-leaf readings or ghosts, but I have known statesmen whose inner ideas, when you probed them, were such as to make you shrink away in terror. I don't mean evil ideas, but rather lack of any ideas and information.

I mean that when a statesman makes a speech it sounds fine. The flowering generalities, we all assume, cover up a wealth of detailed understanding and information. If he can say all that in half an hour, we think how much else he must know, what a grasp he must have of the subject; what a positive knowledge. But when you get inside the barriers you find to your amazement that the poor fellow only knew the generalities and not the facts; had no real notion of what he was discussing at all.

Indeed, this country has been deluged for years with seas of economic oratory which had a fine sound of enlightenment, but generally when you got the orator in the corner and asked him exactly what it meant, when you asked him how it would work, when you asked him to add two and two together, he looked at you blankly and said that wasn't part of his job.

You listened to a fellow talk on a public platform for two hours about the use of money and found afterward in private that he knew no more about it than you did.

There is more bluffing in the world today than ever before, more fine phrases with less meaning than ever before, more leaders believing in horoscopes, tea leaves and ghosts. More importance is attached to utterances which have no meaning; more significance ascribed to words which some bewildered fellow muttered because he couldn't think of anything better; more speeches which seem to mean something but really mean nothing. On the whole, astrology is a relatively exact science.

NATURE

THIS, HOWEVER, is not what I started out to say. What I started out to say is that Nature is a hateful old lady. Full of special hatreds and prejudices and private animosities. And after all, a woman without any taste whatever.

How else can you account for her diabolical feud against little yellow beans? Now, a yellow bean, you would say, is a harmless thing. It does little in the world. Only moisture and sunshine, only a trifle of warmth so that it may sprout. But all the forces of nature are arrayed against the little yellow bean. Nature hates it, and nature has a vast arsenal of lethal weapons.

No sooner is your bean in the soil, placed there tenderly by loving hands, than nature unleashes a blitzkrieg against it. She calls out her cutworms and slugs. She sends out an SOS for a stinging fly to poison the first frail leaves. She sets the bacteria to work to rot the weak stalk. She withers it with hot sun and wind. Very soon the bean is dead. You can see dozens of nature's victims lying dead, all pale and yellow, on the black earth of my vegetable garden.

And Nature hates roses. A lover of beauty you may call her, but it is always the most beautiful things that she selects for her most fearful revenge. See how she turns every pest in her collection loose on the unassuming rose—the spores, caterpillars, bugs, fungi, and rusts in mass attack. No mercy, no quarter. Nature is determined to extinguish the rose if she can, before it grows.

Or watch her cunningly poison a delphinium with mildew. Watch her, Borgia-like, convey her fatal nectars into the bloodstream of the defenceless plant until it wilts and dies. Watch her turn the earwigs loose on your best dahlia.

And for what purpose? Because she has some higher plan in view, some better scheme to improve the landscape? Not at all. She sweeps aside your roses if she can, she poisons your delphiniums and murders your dahlias so that she may replace them with mustard, with every other foul weed, for they are her favorites.

For the virtuous and beautiful children of growth she has no use. All her favors are given to her worthless relatives, to the roisterers and degenerates, to the no-goods and never-do-wells. If she were left alone, if we gardeners didn't fight her at every turn, it would be a world of thistles, a world of earwigs, caterpillars, mildews, spores and rusts. She hates beautiful things and she hates us. A thoroughly bad old girl.

An Ex-Soldier on The Y.M.C.A.

MANY YOUNG MEN and women have heard adverse criticism, sometimes by returned men, of the work of the Y.M.C.A. in the last war, and these young people may wonder whether they should contribute to the campaign for funds for war services which the Y.M.C.A. is about to start. So that they may see the other side of the question I'd like to quote the views of a returned man—my father—in two of his letters to me; and I may properly remark that because he served four years in the Canadian army, nearly three of which in France, he had a much longer experience of active service than the average, which was, I understand, about a year. And also he is in no way connected with the "Y."

The first extract is from a letter written soon after the outbreak of this war, and was his reaction to my merely having mentioned how busy the "Y" is with the work for the soldiers. He wrote:

I have the kindest remembrances of the "Y" huts and canteens in both England and France during the last war and I hope the boys of 1939 vintage will fare as well in this regard as we did. Of course no gratitude need be expected. The food will be rotten, the charges exorbitant, etc., but nevertheless after all the grousing the boys know very well, especially the more intelligent, how much these places mean.

THE SECOND is from a recent letter and is the reply to remarks I had made about this criticism of the "Y":

Wherever it was possible for canteen services to exist and the other things which usually went with it, writing facilities, sing-songs, religious services and so on, the "Y" was always on the job, and I hate to think what it would have been like without the opportunity of buying the odd chocolate bar or some little thing and also to enjoy the other services mentioned. Other societies also did their part, but after leaving England it was always the "Y" and "Y" men who tried to keep in touch with us, in billets at least, and were quite often to be found with hot coffee if nothing else well on their way up the line. Their practical work in material things, both in military and civil affairs, from my own experience deserves the warmest praise and support.

I rather wonder if soldiers really do knock the "Y," you know the Red Cross has had just the same kind of thing to fight, and I wonder if the remarks of some irresponsible asses are used as an excuse to keep the purse-strings shut?

IN THIS SAME LETTER he also writes of an incident which I have heard quoted as an example of soldiers' dislike of the "Y." See if this doesn't shed a different light:

I remember a riot in Witley Camp, England, whilst I was waiting after the armistice for eventual return to Canada. I came back from a weekend leave late one Sunday night and found the camp "Y" hut about the size of a fair-sized hall, almost ruined. Doors torn off, windows broken, the place completely gutted. This was the work of conscripts who had then recently arrived from Canada, had been there a few weeks, had seen no fighting, were full of beans and ennui, and like fools of all ages, attacked and ruined and very institution from which they received the greatest help. The next day the same crowd attacked the camp village with the same results, so the authorities armed the N.C.O.'s and men like myself, who were convalescing, with rifles and bayonets and cased this mob back to their huts. The next day those with bayonet holes in their sterns went to hospital and the rest quieted down. But you can see what a lot of irresponsible things are done at times.

That word "irresponsible" is the

Saanich Council

Homes Hit by Mill Rate—Farms Saved

Saanich farmers last night won the battle they have been fighting for years—to remove the burden of taxation from the land—when the municipal council set the 1940 tax rate at 31 mills on land and on 45 per cent of improvements.

The new levy drops the mill rate by 11 mills from 42 and jumps the taxable improvement assessment from 20 to 45 per cent.

The effect of the new rate may be illustrated by the following cases, taking an average sized farm and an average inner ward home:

A farmer with a 60-acre farm, 50 acres improved, assessed at $75 an acre with an additional $50 per acre on improved land and buildings valued at $3,000, paid $235.20 a year taxes under the 1939 rate, including $189 land taxes and $46.20 for improvement. Under the 1940 rate he will pay $216.22, including $139.50 for land and $76.72 for improvements. This gives a decrease of $19 a year in the taxes.

A $19 increase in taxes is imposed on the owner for a $200 lot on which he has a $2,000 home. Last year he paid $25.20, including $8.40 for the lot and $16.80 for improvements, while this year he will pay $34.10, including $6.20 for land and $27.90 for improvements.

WORTH A JIG

Councillor L. C. Hagan, veteran member from Ward Six, who has fought and argued for the farmers during his 16 years as their representative, was so elated by the decision he jumped from his seat and danced a jig.

Deciding factor in the victory of the farmers was the vote of Councillor George Austin, of Ward Four.

Last week, when the council was deadlocked over the vote, the urban representatives, Councillors E. C. Warren, Ward Two, and Leslie H. Passmore, Ward Seven, fought strongly to keep the improvement percentage down, while the rural councillors, Councillors Hagan and John Oliver, Ward Five, sought to raise it and lower the mill rate.

Councillor Austin at that time offered a compromise rate, but was supported only by Councillor J. R. Seoby, Ward Three. As he cast the deciding vote last night he said he did so because the council would not compromise on a middle route and he felt the burden was too great on land.

Against the motion and supporting an amendment for 40 mills and 25 per cent of improvements were Councillors Warren, Passmore and Seoby. All the remainder: Reeve Lambrick and Councillors Hagan, Oliver, Austin and J. W. Howroyd, Ward One, voted for the motion.

REEVE CHALLENGED

The vote came after another long discussion on the equity of the taxation system, similar to that which prefaced last week's deadlocked vote. During the debate secession of the outer wards was again suggested, and Reeve Lambrick was challenged to run next year for the reeveship after urging an increase in the taxes on homeowners.

Reeve Lambrick started the ball rolling with the observation that "this is an old sore and I feel we must have co-operation in this municipality to adjust that load. It's either co-operation or separation."

"I've no objection to separation," interjected Councillor Warren.

"Me, either," from Councillor Passmore.

"Of me," said Councillor Hagan.

"Or me," added Councillor Austin. "That, gentlemen, seems to me to be the whole solution. If that's what the majority thinks then it is the only solution. We should be able to co-operate in this municipality, but if the majority wants separation let's do it."

"The government gave us $121,000 last year outside of roads. I think the government treated us well last year and we better not start throwing rocks at them," observed Reeve Lambrick. "The people of Saanich have got to realize that if they want more services they must pay for them."

"You had all this in mind in the last election, why didn't you tell the people it then?" said Councillor Warren to the reeve.

"You were elected on a platform of economy."

"Now let's not get personal," said the reeve.

"That's not personal, Mr. Reeve," came back Councillor Passmore. "That's just what I had in mind" (referring to Councillor Warren's remark).

"I have always told the people what I would do and there's not one of you here can say I haven't," was Reeve Lambrick's reply. "I told the people I would remedy the unjustness and unfairness in this municipality and that's what I've done my best to do."

Councillor Warren—Will you run next year on that platform?

Reeve Lambrick—I don't know if I will run.

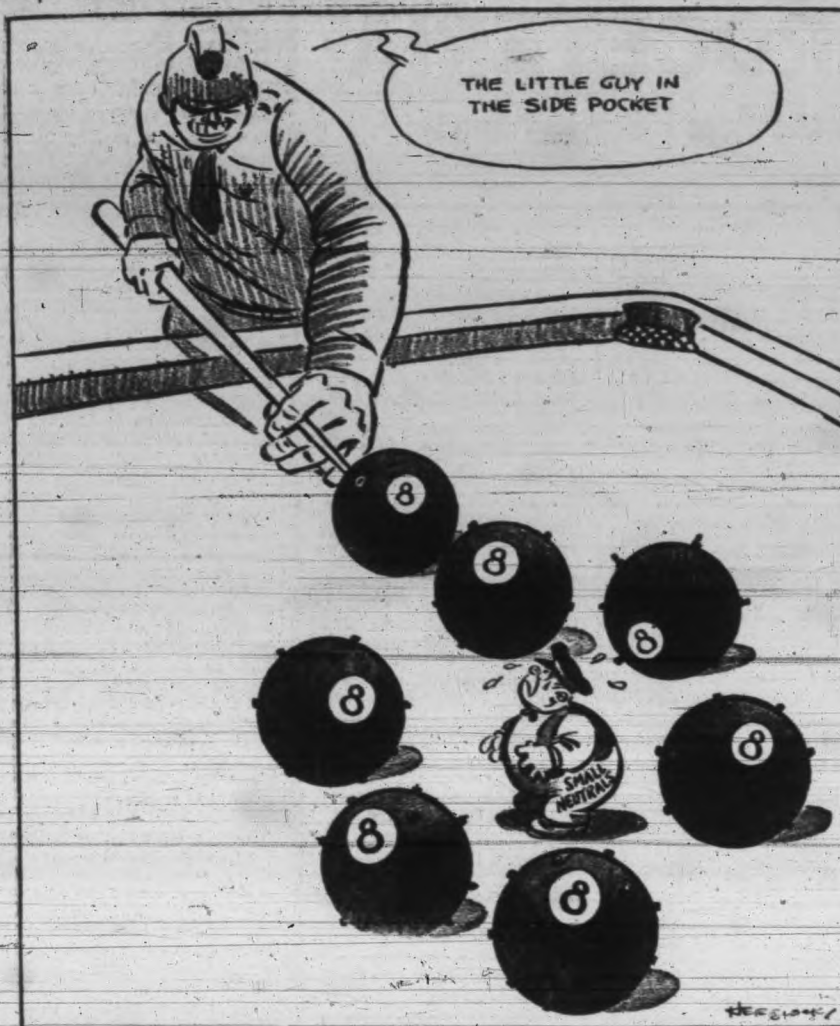

Councillor Warren—I'll challenge you to run on it and you'll find out.

Councillors Hagan and Oliver, to bring the issue to a head, moved for 45 per cent of improvements and 31 mills.

Councillor Seoby thought the council should table the tax rate and consider it further until a later meeting. He said he wanted to vote for a rate that would be equitable. "I want to vote for the whole municipality not just one section. Let's have a rate that can be carried forward in the future and not change it too much," he said.

Councillors Warren and Passmore moved the 40 mill and 25 per cent amendment.

INSURANCE SO LOW COUNCIL WON'T TELL

The Saanich Council last night opened public tenders on insurance covering automobiles and municipal equipment, and refused to divulge the amount of the bid of the successful tender.

In the words of Reeve A. G. Lambrick, "It was so low we feel it in the best interests of the public to publish the figure."

The successful bidder was Johnson and Company, agents for a nonboard company.

Half-a-dozen nonboard and several board company bids were received.

It was understood unofficially the amount of the successful tender was around $600, while other nonboard bids ranged up to $1,200 and $1,400.

Want Bus Service To Bay Improved

A plea for improved transportation service in Cordova Bay was put before the Saanich council last night by A. C. Lefler, president of the Cordova Bay Ratepayers' Association.

In a letter filed with the council the association suggested if the present franchise holder—the Vancouver Island Coach Lines—would not meet the request the council should approach the Public Utilities Commission to cancel the franchise in that area.

Specifically Mr. Lefler asked for a daily bus in addition to the school bus. At present a bus was operated only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. He also asked certain time changes in present schedules.

He said the company had argued a daily service was a losing proposition, but a recent check by the association did not wholly show this to be the case.

The council promised to take the question up with the transportation company.

SAANICH COUNCIL BRIEFS

Application from Coles, Howell & Company for financial assistance in putting a road subdivision at the north end of the old C.N.R. right of way was referred to the solicitor. The council questioned its right to construct a road on property it did not own.

The Lake Hill Tennis Club was granted permission to construct a tennis court at Lake Hill Park on the condition membership would be open to any Saanich resident who paid the required fee. Charles King and W. Peddie made the application for the club.

LONDON—An official statement from the British Admiralty shows that 24 men were drowned, instead of 100 as at first reported, in the sinking of the transport Manitou, which was attacked by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean Sea yesterday morning.

LONDON—Baron Herbert de Reuter, managing editor of Reuter's Telegram Company, one of the leading news gathering organizations of the world, was found dead yesterday at his home near Reigate, Surrey. The authorities declare that he committed suicide.

A most successful dance was given under the auspices of the Parsons Bridge guard of the 50th Gordon Highlanders at the Colwood Hall on Friday evening.

With the ship's trumpeter lustily playing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Prince Rupert steamed out of the harbor this morning on her first voyage to northern ports since last August.

Police Buy 2 Cars

The Victoria Police Commission yesterday afternoon accepted the tender of the National Motor Company, Limited, to supply a Ford sedan with a Mercury engine for $750, including an allowance on an old car, and the tender of the Brooklands Motorcycle Works to furnish a three-wheeled traffic servi-car for $700, including a trade-in allowance on an old motorcycle and side car.

The commission promoted Constables Ray G. Maitland and Robert J. Davidson to third-class officers, to become effective May 1.

The city purchasing agent was given instructions to call for tenders to secure 37 police uniforms.

The commission declared a communication from the superannuation commissioner saying that it would be in order for A. W. Collier, assistant police station janitor, to contribute to the superannuation fund.

Vopel and Audy in Six-day Race Lead

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Four teams were tied for the leadership of the six-day bicycle race at the end of the 95th hour, with the German-Canadian team of Heinz Vopel and Jules Audy given the top ranking with 443 points.

The leaders all had traveled 1,512 miles nine laps, with Crossley-Kilian getting 429 points, Walthour-Thomas 245 and Debaets-Shipman 186.

For the second time in a week Vopel defeated Torchy Peden in a special three-mile pursuit race.

"Surprise! I mean, HANDS UP!"

"Oh, John—you DID remember!"

Good old John, always reliable... he didn't forget Mary's birthday, even though he was many miles away. He couldn't be with her for the occasion, but he knew the next best thing to do. He called her by long-distance telephone.

"This is a real thrill, John," said Mary. "It makes me wish I could have a birthday every day."

HITLER BIRTHDAY EVENTS TOMORROW

BERLIN (AP)—Publication of a decree by Adolf Hitler of amnesty for physicians, dentists and pharmacists convicted of offences against their professional rules committed before last September 1, coincides with preparations for celebration tomorrow of Hitler's 51st birthday. The September 1 limit for the amnesty coincides with the date Germany invaded Poland, touching off the Second Great War. Hitler's anniversary will be celebrated on a countrywide scale, but the celebration will be subdued because of the war. Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy party leader and second in line of succession to him, will address the German youth tomorrow morning. Baldur von Schirach, head of the Hitler Youth Organization, and now a corporal in the army, will extend the organization's best wishes to Hitler from the westfront by radio tomorrow night.

At the direction of Field Marshal Wilhelm Goering, Germans for weeks have been contributing objects of bronze, copper, nickel, lead, brass and zinc to the wartime metal collection as a birthday gift to Hitler.

Heat From Ice Cream—Ice cream makes you warmer. Cream, sugar and starch are used in making ice cream, and these are classed as fuel foods, which produce body heat.

Big Error By Hitler

LONDON (CP)—Leslie Burgin, Minister of Supply, in an address here said Hitler's invasion of Norway had resulted in giving Britain control of both sides of the North Sea instead of one. "We can make a closed quadrilateral between the coasts of Norway and this country," he said, "and by controlling it we can deny Germany any supplies except from countries she overruns or which are geographically her neighbors."

"If we take the true measure of her strength, nothing can stand in our way of beating her."

Will Choose Leader

EDMONTON (CP)—Selection of a House leader will be the chief subject before the 19 Independent elected in the March 21 Alberta election when they convene here tomorrow for an all-day session.

Other topics to be discussed will be policy to be followed at the first session, feasibility of calling a provincial convention of Independent supporters and the question of forming a full-time organization.

Nazi Trickery Fooled Norwegians

WASHINGTON (AP)—German tricks and not Norwegian treachery were said by the Norwegian legation here to have been responsible for Germany's initial success in invading Norway.

The legation issued a statement based on cable from the Norwegian legation in Stockholm, Sweden. This declared that "sensational rumors of treason and sabotage must be received with the greatest reservation," and cited a series of cases in which, it said, Norwegian surrender or defeat was caused by German subterfuges rather than Norwegian treachery.

The cable released here said: "In military quarters confusion was created by reports which were issued in the name of the government not only from Oslo but also from other telegraph stations until it became clear to the individual commanders that false reports had been sent. Thus repeated reports were sent to Gen. Erichsen's troops (south-east of Oslo) stating the government had ordered him to surrender."

"Great damage also was caused by a false order instructing the Norwegian troops not to shoot in order to prevent provocations, but wait until the Germans attacked. Certain detachments were thereby placed in a position where they could not defend themselves before it was too late."

A legation spokesman said these supposed orders were put out by German agents. "The Norwegian high command is bending all its strength towards a tough and tenacious fight," added the legation cable.

Bible Reading In Schools Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the 48th session of the New Westminster Anglican Diocese Synod, after a long discussion, approved a motion to ask the Minister of Education to make provision for regular reading of portions of the Bible in public schools.

A delegation appointed by the synod will meet the minister shortly and all other Christian denominations will be asked by the synod to take similar action. It was decided.

"It is tragic," S. McCreery, treasurer of the diocese, said, "that one of the most enlightened provinces of the Dominion should be the only province in which Bible reading is not encouraged." The synod also passed a resolution deploring an increase in the number of divorces in British Columbia.

Mission Grant Raised

VANCOUVER (CP)—Clergy and laymen attending the final sessions of the 48th session of the New Westminster Anglican diocese synod last night passed a resolution to increase the annual grant of the Columbia Coast Mission from $250 to $1,500 per year.

The Columbia Coast Mission is well known along the coast by its hospital-mission ships.

90 Auto Deaths—FREDERICTON (CP)—Auto accidents in New Brunswick during the last year caused 90 fatalities, the highest death toll in the province's history, according to the annual report of the minister of public works, tabled in the legislature yesterday. In the previous year there were 47 deaths.

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP)—Florrie Forde, 65, last of the old style music hall singers, who introduced a song 25 years ago that was to become the immortal marching tune of the British Tommy, died yesterday a few hours after entering patients at a naval hospital here. The song was "Tipperary."

FRENCH CHAMBER IN SECRET SITTING

PARIS (CP-Havas)—On the sudden request of Premier Paul Reynaud, the French Chamber of Deputies again went into secret session today to discuss the government's conduct of the war. This followed a three-day secret session of the Senate, which concluded last night with an expression by the upper house of unanimous satisfaction with the war and diplomatic picture as outlined by M. Reynaud and his ministers. No vote was taken and there was no debate, interpellations being postponed. The Senate is to meet again next Thursday.

Appearing before the lower house today to ask immediate debate on interpellations on conduct of the war, the premier requested that discussion be ended

by tonight, since he had "international obligations" to fulfill tonight.

2,000 Entrants in Kelowna Festival

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Over 700 persons filled the Kelowna Badminton Club here last night to attend the 15th annual Okanagan Valley musical festival which got under way yesterday and continued today.

It is estimated that some 2,000 persons will have competed in the festival from all parts of the valley before the concluding events Saturday evening.

In one event alone, the children's sing-song, there are more than 1,000 tots taking part.

The entry list for the festival totals more than 350 — one of the largest entries on record. Bernard Naylor of Cambridge, England, is adjudicating the music classes and Major Bullock-Webster is judging the recitations. Miss Barbara Hinton, director of physical education at the Provincial Normal School, Victoria, is judging the dancing.

Cupid Is Barked

HOVE, England (CP) — Three interpreters were required when Hove magistrates heard — and turned down — the application of 18-year-old Elisabeth Szepessy to marry Andrew Kende, 37. The girl, a Czech, could speak that language only and Kende was a Jewish Czech.

The girl's parents, whose refusal of consent to the marriage led to the court application, spoke Hungarian, although the father knew a little German. Szepessy objected to the marriage because he wished to obtain a visa to go to Canada with his daughter and felt she had no prospects if she married Kende.

Cooking Quiz Proves Novel Feature of W.I. Tea

Eleven practical housewives proved their knowledge of the culinary art yesterday afternoon before a critical audience, when the Lake Hill Women's Institute held its annual cooking quiz and tea at the Lake Hill Community Hall.

The hall was beautifully decorated with spring blossoms and streamers of crepe paper in yellow and green. Mrs. A. S. Moffat having charge of the artistic arrangements.

Mrs. J. F. McNaught conducted the quiz, presenting many difficult questions to the contestants, who were seated on the stage. Mrs. M. A. Foulds of the home service department of the B.C. Electric Company, and Miss Charlotte Martin, home economics teacher of North Ward School, were the judges, and the prize winners were Mrs. W. P. Rankin, first; Mrs. Milner, second; Mrs. W. Peden, third, and Mrs. McQueen, fourth.

Mrs. W. S. Webster, president of the Institute, welcomed the guests, and members of the Institute assisted in the general arrangements. Much amusement was caused by a hat-trimming contest, in which, after close competition, Mrs. A. McCallum, Miss Hutchison, Mrs. Dawkins and Mrs. Clark were adjudged the winners.

Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Massey and Miss Holyoke were in charge of the other contests. The prizes presented during the afternoon, and which numbered 23, were generously donated by local firms.

A home-cooking stall was in charge of Mrs. M. C. Findlay and Mrs. L. S. Heather, and the tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Simmons and a group of helpers.

Mrs. H. Raybone was in charge of the financial proceeds, which were gratifying. A cake iced to represent a miniature house with a garden round about, was the artistic handiwork of Miss Mary Simmons, and went to Mrs. Pilley.

During the afternoon a presentation was made to Mrs. R. Myles, in appreciation of her indefatigable work for the Institute.

QUEEN TO NAME PARK

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Queen Elizabeth will be asked to select a suitable name for Kelowna's park on the shore of Okanagan Lake, if Mayor G. A. McKay accepts the suggestion of the Kelowna Board of Trade.

The park has never had a name and the board suggests that the city write the Queen and ask her to propose one.

The picture of this tiny baby was taken just after she was recently christened Princess Maria Elizabeth Katerina Gabrielle Dorothea Constance Edwards von Loewenstein. Holding the royal baby, believed to be the first American-born German princess, is her mother, Princess Helga Maria zu Loewenstein.

Social and Personal

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber were hosts at a dinner party last evening at Government House in honor of their guests, Hon. Albert Matthews, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and Mrs. Matthews; Mrs. George Pape, who is here from Ottawa, and Lieut. Col. J. H. M. Greenly, O.B.E., a visitor from London. Covers were laid for 28 at a table beautifully arranged with spring flowers. Mrs. Hamber, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Mae Rice were guests of honor at a luncheon party given yesterday by Mrs. Rupert Guthrie at her home on Pemberton Road.

Mrs. T. M. Knox, Rockland Avenue, who has been spending the last week in Portland with Mrs. C. S. Jackson, will return home tomorrow.

This afternoon at her home on St. Charles Street, Mrs. E. G. Prior was hostess at the tea hour in compliment to Mrs. Norman Williamson of Montreal, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. F. D. Little, Rockland Avenue.

Mrs. Gordon MacDonnell and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Colin Baker of Toronto, came over from Vancouver yesterday to spend 10 days motoring on the island, and will visit Col. and Mrs. G. S. Worsley, Newport Avenue, before returning to the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ashburnham of Hampshire Road, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Doreen Ashburnham, will leave Victoria on April 27 for Santa Cruz, California, where they will make their home for the next year. From tomorrow they will be the guests of Mrs. Curtis Sampson, "Molton Combe," Newport Avenue, until their departure for the south.

In honor of Miss Patty Carney, whose wedding will take place this month, Miss Evelyn Morrison entertained yesterday evening with a miscellaneous shower at her home on Bowker Avenue, Oak Bay. The gifts were concealed in a large container decorated with pink and silver, and on her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of miniature roses. Those present included Miss Patty Carney, Miss Drusilla O'Neill, Miss Eileen O'Neill, Mrs. Daryl Bissett, Miss Audrey Bland, Mrs. George Laird and Mrs. A. M. Dodd.

Mrs. Duncan Bell-Irving, who comes over today to join her husband, Wing-Commander Bell-Irving and make her home, was the guest of honor at a tea given by Mrs. E. L. McLeod in Vancouver yesterday. Over 100 guests were invited, including executive and captains of the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Services, of which Mrs. Bell-Irving was first president, and the members of the board of management of the Air Force Hostess House. A corsage was presented to the guest of honor, and asked to preside at the tea-table were: Mrs. Kenneth Nairn, Healey-Smith, F. W. Foster and J. S. Williamson. Prior to the tea, Mrs. Reginald Tupper entertained at luncheon at Jericho Country Club, honoring Mrs. Bell-Irving.

Miss Evelyn Day, who is to be married shortly, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by her bridesmaid-to-be, Miss Waverley Snead, at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. E. Dinsdale, 1044 McClure Street, last night. Corsage bouquets were given. Mrs. Day and the guest of honor, and the "shower" gifts were concealed in a Chinese junk, representing a "ship of joy." Apple blossom and mauve lilac were used in decoration of the sitting-room, and on the supper table was a lovely bowl of tulips and lilacs. Contests and games were much enjoyed by the guests.

A farewell party in honor of Miss Evelyn Coolidge and Miss Judith Hagen, who are returning to their homes in Saskatchewan, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dahl, Denman Street, on Tuesday evening by members of the Quest Club and a few other friends. A number of games and contests were enjoyed, contest winners being Misses Agnes Kruger, Olive Bergren, Judith Hagen and Evelyn Coolidge. A sit-down supper was served at a table decorated with a lace cloth and centred with a rose-colored bowl filled with blue iris and rose-colored holders. On behalf of those present, Miss Dorothy Cronk presented Miss Hagen and Miss Coolidge with a traveling kit each as a token of remembrance. The following were present: Miss Evelyn Coolidge, Miss Judith Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. George Dahl, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Chapman, Mrs. Victor Smith, Misses Irene and Meri Hagen, Bernice Weigert, Alma Schlang, Agnes Kruger, Olive Bergren, Clara Hasel, Margaret Isbister and Dorothy Cronk.

Canadian Evacuee Finds England Too Cold

Written for the Canadian Press
By DOROTHY DEW

HARTWELL, Northants, Eng. — If you want to survive the cold of your first rural winter as an evacuee, it is a big help to hold world records for firestoking and just plain endurance. We didn't. But we — Canadian evacuees from London — could certainly take on all comers now.

For seven weeks we fought a most vicious cold spell, the worst in 40 years. We fought it in a 400-year-old farmhouse with more doors and windows to the square yard than I have ever seen before — and none of them fit. We won the battle by means of five coal fires, six oil stoves and sheer hard work. It meant a fresh assault each morning for there isn't a fire in the house capable of staying in overnight. Despite our efforts the front hall remained like the Northwest Passage and the room where the babies slept would have made a good refrigerator. One morning we awoke to find the whole water system frozen solid.

ROADS BLOCKED

On top of this, roads were blocked for nearly two weeks by a heavy snowfall. As most of our perishable supplies come from Northampton, eight miles away, we went without anything under that heading. The rest of the household goods we get from the village store, one and a half miles distant — and how distant that is when every step plunges you knee-deep in snow. Fortunately, owing to our isolated position, we always kept a well-stocked larder and we didn't lack anything vital in the food line.

On the whole, we have found the ration allowances adequate because we are a large household and we pool everything. We use margarine in cooking and find four ounces of butter weekly per person enough. The bacon ration, half a pound apiece, is sufficient. Sugar, at 12 ounces per head, runs a bit close. Wherever possible we use treacle as a substitute in cooking.

We are not so optimistic about meat rationing, which is worked out on a value basis, allowing us about 10s ($22.3) weekly. That doesn't buy much meat for four children and two adults. Fish has risen in price so much it is almost beyond our budget. On the whole, the cost of living has risen 30 per cent since the war and it takes planning to make a pre-war income, or one that is much less than pre-war, feed you and clothe you as well as before.

EVACUEES HAPPY

The same problems confront those who have taken in evacuated children, although a rise in government allowances for youngsters over 12 has helped them. The children are all happy in their new surroundings. They didn't even want to go home for Christmas. They have taken to country life in a manner which proves conclusively the country is their natural habitat. When they arrived here last September they could distinguish them from the villagers' children by their white faces and strained eyes. Now they're so healthy, strong and rosy-cheeked you cannot tell them apart.

Half the time they probably forget the reason they are here. There are no visible reminders of war for them to see. No sandbags around the churches and schools, no air raid shelters. The blackout only means drawing the curtains, for in the country it is always a blackout after dark. If it weren't for the newspapers and the radio we should feel as if we lived in another world.

We have only once sighed for the blackout lights of London. It was after a particularly hard session of trying to keep the weather out of doors. Then we felt a wave of nostalgia for that modern flat where keeping warm simply meant twiddling something on a radiator or switching on an electric fire. Not as at our farm, heating coal and lugging coal oil all day and half the night. Aside from that, you can have London. I'm staying evacuated.

GARDEN CITY

The women's association of Garden City United Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Brown, White-side Road. Arrangements were made for holding a May Day tea on the afternoon of May 1 at the home of Mrs. A. P. Fryatt, Snow-dome Avenue. Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Duchess of Windsor Is 'Marraine'

PARIS (CP) — Today, the Duchess of Windsor is no longer wearing her traditional blue—but khaki like her royal husband who serves at the front with the troops of whom he was once supreme chief.

Little is seen of the Duchess in Paris except in connection with war work. She is a large subscriber to each armament bond issue and has allowed her picture and encouragement to be used in connection with their publicity. But the moment war began she offered her services, turned her Mediterranean home into a convalescent hospital and is now actively engaged in the work of the French Red Cross, the Section Sanitaire Automobile Feminine and other women's organizations which serve the army. Her latest achievement is to become "marraine de guerre" which translates roughly as "wargodmother" to a whole regiment of French soldiers.

A short time ago a regiment of infantry, after several months at the front, returned for a rest period. They are stationed in a village in northern France. Since some of them were without families they asked for a "marraine," and they drew — the Duchess of Windsor.

To the delight of the poilus the Duchess paid them a visit recently. The Flemish village where they are billeted was in festive dress. From all the windows the Union Jack and the Tricolor of France fraternized. Across the streets were paper streamers and garlands—faded garlands because they had served already to celebrate the Armistice, but nothing is lost in that corner of France—neither traditions nor streamers.

The mayor of the village with his red, white and blue silk sash of office, about his waist, the chief of the Red Cross and the Countess de Tocqueville, the Duchess reviewed her soldiers, talking to them quite naturally, shaking hands here and there, asking a question, "What would you like? What do you need?" She was touched and surprised when a very young soldier, a peasant lad, stooped quickly and with a courtly gesture kissed the hand she extended towards him.

Accompanied by Mlle. Nicolle, chief of the Red Cross and the Countess de Tocqueville, the Duchess reviewed her soldiers, talking to them quite naturally, shaking hands here and there, asking a question, "What would you like? What do you need?" She was touched and surprised when a very young soldier, a peasant lad, stooped quickly and with a courtly gesture kissed the hand she extended towards him.

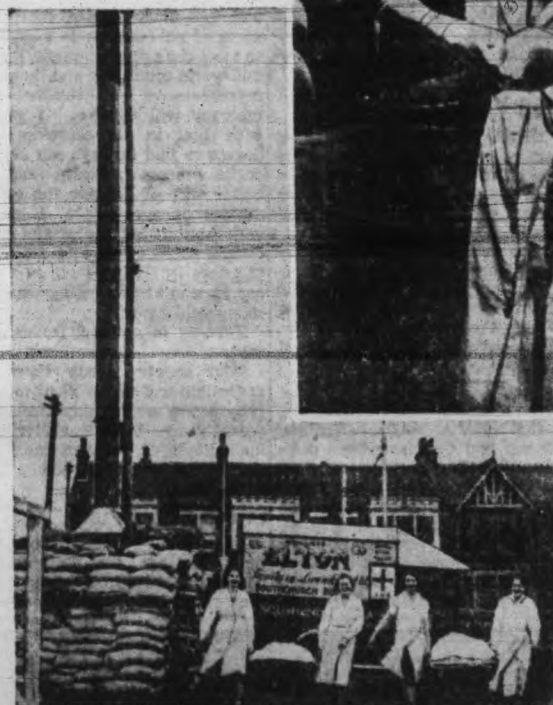

'Stretch' Girl at Last Obtains Her Wings

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The stretch girl has her wings. Kathleen Hildebrand, 19-year-old red-head, who had to add an inch to her height in a month to meet requirements for federal aviation student-training, took her first solo flight this morning. "The nicest solo I've ever seen for a beginner," said her instructor, James F. Selby, after the eight-minute hop.

It's been five months since Kathleen finally won her stretch-battle by pulling on doors, taking special exercises to lengthen her spine and consulting a chiropractor and chiropractor.

Angora rabbits would produce wool five to eight inches long in a year, but they are usually sheared four times a year in commercial practice.

The problem of how to stay under cover and watch the progress of an air raid has been solved at Southend-on-Sea, Essex, England. Girls employed at a laundry are shown looking into the "receiving end" of a home-made periscope rigged up in an air raid shelter.

This picture shows the girls returning from one of the drying fields passing the 45-foot shaft of the periscope. The delivery truck in the rear has been equipped to serve as an ambulance in an emergency.

Athlone to Sail Early in June

By J. F. SANDERSON
BALCOMBE, Sussex, Eng. (CP) — The Earl of Athlone expects to sail for Canada to take up the duties of Governor-General about the end of May or early in June, he told me here today at his big country home, Brantford Park, set in the midst of the tree-covered Sussex hills.

It will be his first glimpse of Canada since 1901, when he crossed the country with King George V, then Duke of York, on his way to Australia. It will be a first visit for Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, whose great-grandfather, the Duke of Kent, lived at Montmorency Falls, outside Quebec.

Seeing him in the simple life typical of an English squire, it struck me that they are much the same sort of couple as the King and Queen, only older. He is reserved, almost shy. She is sparkling and vivacious, and there always seems to be a smile on her animated face, with its soft, quizzical eyes.

While they talked and walked along the flagstone paths of the sunken garden, it was difficult to believe this free and easy couple are direct descendants of King George III, that she is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and he a brother of Queen Mother Mary.

Lord Athlone has a deep, quiet, resonant voice and his long years in the army, with service in India, Africa and France, have left an unmistakable stamp on him. He has many shooting trophies on the walls and floors of his home, and is looking forward to hunting big game in Canada. But he admitted almost ruefully that it seemed he was not much of a fisherman.

STRAWBERRY VALE

A card party was held Wednesday evening under auspices of the Colquitz Tennis Club in Colquitz Hall, with seven tables in play. The winning honors were awarded as follows: Mrs. Hooper and H. Helander, first; Mrs. Austin and W. Paine, second; Mrs. E. Abercrombie and H. Huntington, consolation.

Under auspices of Wilkinson Road United Women's auxiliary a silver tea was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. V. Jewell, 1245 Chapman Street, Victoria. An interesting program was enjoyed under leadership of Mrs. A. E. Campion with dramatic readings by Mrs. M. Ransome.

The highest temperature used in chemistry is about 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit, which occurs when acetylene is burned with oxygen.

1. May a woman wear costume jewelry with office clothes?
2. Should a woman wear dangling earrings to her office?

4. Is it correct for a woman to wear a dinner dress when her husband wears full-dress?
5. Is it correct for her to wear a backless, sleeveless evening gown when he wears a dinner jacket?

What would you do if—
You are a man planning to be married at a church ceremony—
(a) Tell your ushers how you want them to dress?
(b) Leave it to their own judgment how they dress?

Answers

1. Yes. If she doesn't wear too much.
2. No.
3. No.
4. No. She should wear a low-cut evening dress.
5. No. Then she should wear a dinner dress.

OLIVE GARNISH

A ripe olive garnish for a fish or meat platter is a treat. Do it like this: Cover ripe olives, arranged in a shallow pan with French dressing, bake them five minutes or so in a moderate oven. Cool the dressing and use it later.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Store—or any druggist—a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Hitler's Greatest Gamble

Inside the Swedish Bofors munitions works, where some of the world's finest big guns are made. These guns may become a big help to Norway and the Allies.

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON

HITLER'S DRAMATIC invasion of Norway is a supreme gamble.

He risks the advantage of his submarine and air blockade of Britain on the outcome of a new and far-flung war. Three desperate chances appear, and if any prove mischances Hitler may find he has overtaxed his Napoleonic luck.

First is the chance he took in seizing western Norwegian ports, a direct challenge to the world's greatest naval power. If that power should prove superior to his own air power, then his hold on those Norwegian ports is not worth a kipped herring. To maintain his hold there his invading troops are dependent for the time being on a line of supply and reinforcement entirely by water routes through the Skagerrak and the North Sea. This route is exposed, long and at one point only 100 miles wide.

OSLO HOLDS THE KEY

That bottleneck he tries to protect by submarines, mines and planes, but if the British and French with their vastly superior naval forces plug it, the relatively small German forces on the Norwegian coast can be picked off. Then an Allied drive southward through Norway can begin. That is if the Norwegian army can hold back long enough the larger German forces landing at Oslo.

Oslo is the real entering wedge for the conquest of Norway. The harbor is deep and sheltered. From it runs a railroad which can transport to the western Norwegian ports large bodies of troops and supplies readily ferried over from Germany to Oslo. If the British navy forces the Kattegat entrance the Germans would risk being cut off at Oslo, too. Then not even an invasion of Germany would be utterly impossible.

What Hitler gambles on there is that as Franco-British ships force their way into the Kattegat his air force, mines and submarines will take such toll of them that his German battle fleet can cope with them and perhaps even beat them.

HOW LONG CAN NORSE ARMY HOLD?

In this race against time a second stop watch is held by the Norwegian army. How long can it stand off the Germans north of Oslo? The country there is semi-mountainous, studded with lakes and rivers, much like Finland. But the defenders, though brave as the Finns, are fewer and less ready.

Even if the entire Norwegian army could be concentrated its regulars would total only about 25,000. Its more slowly-mobilized and insufficiently-trained reserves are fewer than 100,000, with scanty artillery. Norway's efforts to rearm have been tardy, though aided lately by Allied and American purchases. She has at most 200 airplanes, and German bombing alone may smash a way through.

SWEDEN ALSO KEY FACTOR

If the German air force proves as devastating against Norway as it proved against Poland, Norway's and the Allies' best hope may be Sweden. Her army has strength that Norway's lacks, probably 100,000 men ready, well trained and well equipped by the famous Bofors munitions works, which makes some of the world's best anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns.

Sweden has some 400,000 reserves. Her troops could reach Oslo quickly by rail. Her navy could make much trouble for Germany in the Skagerrak and Kattegat, whose eastern shore is dominated by Swedish coastal batteries at Gothenburg.

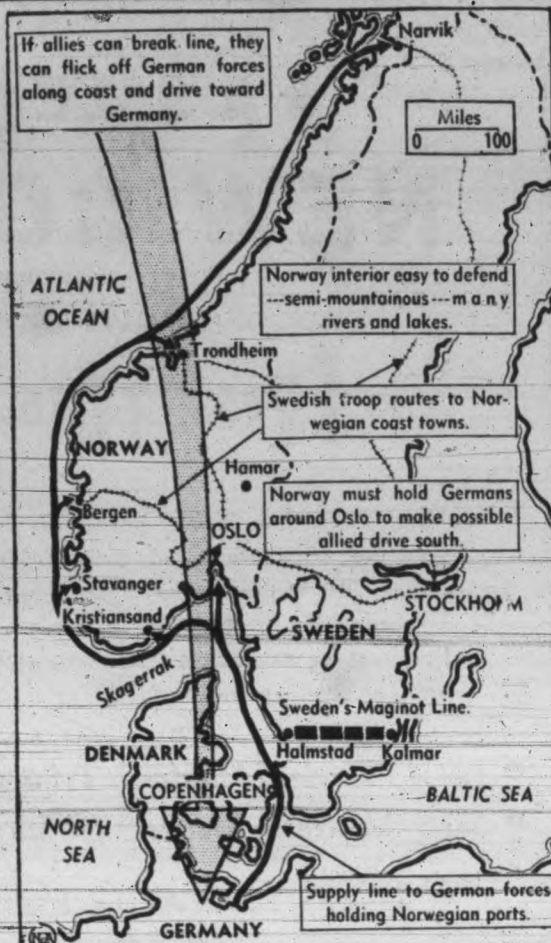

The rear of Swedish troops fighting in Norway could be protected by her so-called "Magnet Line" across southern Sweden from Halmstad to Kalmars. Sweden's air force has 500 planes.

But Sweden is far more vulnerable to the German air force than she would have been to the Russian, and she would not go to war with Russia to save Finland. She did send Finland so much equipment that her own stocks are at the moment low. So low, perhaps, that she may succumb to another Hitler-Stalin squeeze play to keep her out.

RUMANIA OFFERS SOUTHERN FRONT

Rumania, on the other hand, acts as if she would resist such a play. If it should be tried, and perhaps even if it is not, the Allies will make strenuous efforts to get Turkey to join them in war on Germany, or at least to allow them to send ships and troops through the Dardanelles to Rumania.

That would make possible simultaneous attacks on Germany from north and south. Also it might bring in Italy to attack Allied Near Eastern forces, or even France itself.

With terrific finality, stalemate is ended. It may be only a short step from Oslo to Armageddon.

Drive Against Plotters

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Mail today reported 70 members of the House of Commons had asked the Minister of Home Security, Sir John Anderson, to take firm action against "fifth column" elements in Britain—subversive groups seeking to undermine the country to the advantage of its enemies.

The newspaper said it was fully supported by public opinion in demanding action against such factions.

Concrete Raid Shelters

LONDON (CP) — Because the metal is needed for war requirements, no additional steel air raid shelters will be supplied after current deliveries, Sir John Anderson, Home Secretary, informed the House of Commons. He said shelters capable of accommodating 11,500,000 of Britain's 45,000,000 people had been distributed. Additional shelters will be constructed of brick and concrete.

128 Years Old

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman census enumerator reported to her chief here she had found a man who claimed to be 128 years old and presented books and documents to prove his claim.

The evidence was so convincing, George W. Schreech, director of the census, said, that the enumerator rechecked the age as 128 on the official blank.

He gave his name as Sayed Mehren.

Belligerent Exchange

GENEVA (AP) — Britain, France and Germany have completed the first exchange of their nationals since the war started. Two groups of women and children passed through Geneva secretly. There were no military prisoners among them. Most of their husbands and fathers were left behind as civilian prisoners.

Cromwell Stands For U.S. Senate

SOMERVILLE, N.J. (AP) — James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, today formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator from New Jersey, and linked himself to the economic and international views of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Cromwell was in Canada as the statement of candidacy was made from his home here through state Senator James T. Bowers.

Identifying himself as "what is generally referred to as a liberal," Mr. Cromwell, 43, an economist, former automotive executive, real estate promoter and husband of Doris Duke, "the richest girl in the world," allied himself to the President with this statement:

"Recent years have witnessed great upheavals and radical changes in governments throughout the world. President Roosevelt has demonstrated that our form of government is adequate to meet changing economic, social and world conditions and that our representative constitutional democracy will survive. I stand with him in his ceaseless endeavor to find through our democratic process security and a better way of life for the great masses of our people. I stand with him in his sound and successful policy of keeping America at peace by facing facts as they are instead of pretending we live in a world apart."

Turning to national issues, he said: "Our country needs time to assimilate and adjust itself to the progressive social measures of recent years. If we can solve our unemployment problem most of our other problems will solve themselves."

UNOPPOSED SO FAR

Mr. Cromwell is unopposed thus far for the Democratic nomination. U.S. Senator W. Warren Barbour is unopposed for

ADMIRAL EVANS ENVOY TO NORWAY

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Norwegian news agency, Norsk Telegrambyrå, said today the Norwegian government has been advised of the appointment of Admiral Sir Edward Evans as special British naval attaché in Norway and Sweden.

The news agency said the appointment had been received with great satisfaction in Norway.

(Sir Edward saw extensive active service during the first Great War. As commander of H.M.S. Mohawk, he bombarded the German right wing in Belgium in 1914, winning mention in dispatches. He won fame as a commander of H.M.S. Broke in 1917 when that ship and H.M.S. Swift engaged and routed six German destroyers. In 1916 he married Miss Elsa Andvord, a native of Oslo. He has been a freeman of Calgary, Alberta, since 1914.)

Alberta Oil Report

EDMONTON (CP) — Report of the McGillivray royal commission which investigated the oil industry in Alberta was received yesterday by provincial government. Acting Premier E. C. Manning stated the report would be reviewed and considered by the cabinet before there was any public release.

Air Training Plan

LONDON (CP) — The Air Ministry announced today the government had accepted the offer of South Africa of facilities for training Royal Air Force personnel.

A British air mission headed by Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham will fly to South Africa shortly to discuss the necessary measures.

A trial stretch of road in India paved with molasses in the surfacing has stood two years of traffic, including rainy season conditions.

And here's what they are saying:

"... the loveliest designs you ever saw! ... colours are simply exquisite! ... get so much for so little! ... of course for every room in the house! ... gives you hours of extra leisure! ... can be washed and waxed too! lies flat without cementing for tacking!"

BRITISH SUB RESCUES DUTCH FISHERMEN—Bombed and machine-gunned by a Nazi plane in the North Sea, the crew of the Dutch fishing boat Protinus were forced to take to lifeboats. A survivor, who was rescued by a British submarine after six days' adrift in an open boat, is shown here being carried off the submarine Unity at a Scottish port.

Port Alberni's May Queen and Attendants

Miss G. Nelson, left, will preside over the May celebrations at the bustling West Coast city. Miss B. North, centre, and Miss M. Matson, right, will be maids of honor. Port Alberni, which is experiencing a new boom feeling as a result of the announcement that a $3,000,000 pulp mill will be constructed there, plans a very fine program for its May celebrations.

"Indoors all day? Yes...but I ALWAYS KEEP FIT!"

Bob is no "Yes-man." He says "No" to harsh cathartics, nasty doses. "I don't need them. I enjoy my bowl of Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning, every month—and keep fit!"

A hint to the "always tired"...

If we don't feel "alive," keen, the way nature intended, it's often because we don't follow nature's rules. That tired, depressed feeling is often caused just by incomplete elimination. But don't "dose"... prevent these ills the natural way. Get enough "bulk" in the diet to keep food wastes moving. And when this bulk is in a form as delicious as Kellogg's Bran Flakes, you'll gladly make it a daily habit!

Gently laxative... rich in natural Vitamin B... Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts-of-Wheat supply body-building proteins too. Follow the lead of happy thousands and start the Kellogg way tomorrow!

To get well, see your Doctor

To keep well, watch your habits. Make sure your daily elimination is complete. Especially if you have a confining job, like Bob's, it's wise to eat this palatable, mildly laxative cereal every day. Take this delightful way to get needed extra "bulk" right through the year.

Every morning through the year make this a habit

Eat crisp, tempting Kellogg's Bran Flakes for every breakfast and get needed extra "bulk." This natural way helps to avoid hard and possibly dangerous doses. Order the big yellow package today. When eating out, ask for the wrapped individual package. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Annual general meeting of the Victoria and District Basketball Association will be held on April 25 at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:45.

NURMI PREDICTS 4-MINUTE MILE

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Paavo Nurmi, the old Flying Finn, predicted yesterday that 10 years hence somebody is going to run a four-minute mile.

The retired distance runner, whose Olympic record is an athletic legend, said that when some boy, 14 years old today, comes along about 1950 with that accomplishment it will not be a great surprise because before then there will be 4:03, 4:02 and 4:01 miles.

Nurmi is here with his Finnish protegee, Taisto Maki, who will run against Don Lash Sunday for the Finnish relief fund.

"It's foolish to consider the four-minute mile beyond the limit of human possibilities," he said.

"The remarkable feats of Jack Lovelock, Glenn Cunningham, Sid Wooderson and now Chuck Fenske have proved that the figure will be driven down consistently. Competition has done it."

Too Old to Fight Were These Obsolete Guns

Rich in history and tradition, Denmark now is to be given a course in German culture. These obsolete guns at Charlottenlund (upper), are of constant interest. Though used in the past to guard Denmark they did not bark defiance this time. On holidays children clamber over them and picnic in the nearby park. Weaving traditional costumes, Danish peasants are shown making lace.

After Fire Gutted Section of Colon

Dazed and bewildered Panamanians stare disconsolately at the charred ruins which had been their homes before fire recently swept through 16 blocks of kindling-dry houses in the heart of Colon. Ten thousand were left homeless in blaze estimated to have cost $4,000,000.

CHURCH ODDITY—Architecturally the most interesting in the world, this famed "Organ Pipe" church stands in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Unusual

Some more of that unusual SPECIALISTS IN FLIGHTS OF FANCY—After recent bombing weather southern California folks of Scapa Flow, Germans claimed heavy damage done. British talk about strikes. Hollywood scoffed. Germans issued this photo, saying it shows two of the when a heavy hailstorm pelts participants in the attack, Lieut. Magnussen (left) and Major Doench, the southland furnishing material studying their objectives on map at Berlin Propaganda Ministry. for the snowman Billie Leigh British censor passed the photo, labeling the aviators "Specialists in fashions. Inherits Title — But no Money

BEER FOR THE BARONET—Fred Fagge, 29-year-old farm-hand of Faversham, Kent (left) downs a few to celebrate his inheritance of a baronetcy. No money goes with the title, so Fred—or, Sir John William Fagge, as he'll be known now—doesn't intend to give up his job.

No Longer Are Denmark's People Gay

At Copenhagen, Denmark, is this life-like statue (left) erected to the memory of Hans Christian Andersen, whose delightful children's stories have been translated into countless languages and read by millions. Tragedy struck at the heart of all Danes when the German war machine rolled over the border without warning. Unmindful of the impending tragedy, men and women of Copenhagen a short time ago were enjoying themselves in the city's open air restaurants (lower) and normal life was pursued just as at this fish market (upper) on Copenhagen's waterfront.

Hit by German Shells

All is not quiet on the western front, according to this visual evidence which shows a house and church damaged by enemy artillery fire. The buildings are in a village somewhere near the Maginot Line in the French army zone. The scene is reminiscent of havoc wrought in the same district during the last war.

Fifth British Sub Feared Lost

Long overdue from its patrol duty in the North Sea, the 1,573-ton British submarine Thistle is presumed lost by the Admiralty. Launched in May of last year, the ship carries a normal complement of 53 men. It is the fifth British undersea craft reported lost since the outbreak of war. By way of contrast, the Germans have lost 60 submarines in the same time. The Triad, sister ship of the ill-fated Thistle, is shown here with crew lining its deck. Another sister ship, the Truant, reportedly sank the German cruiser Kormoran by torpedo.

FROM 'JUDY O'GRADY' TO BARONET'S LADY—The fact that she is to marry a baronet brings no visions of luxury to Ivy Frier, a domestic. Her fiancé inherited the title from his uncle, Sir John Henry Lee Fagge, who died in Marshfield, Mass., but the title carries no money, so the couple's plans for the future are unchanged.

Sox Pitching Is Brilliant

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

RECENT HAPPENINGS in major hockey may foreshadow more important developments in the near future. As the old saying, coming events cast their shadows before. Release of Dick Irvin, by Toronto Maple Leafs, to take over the coaching duties with the Montreal Canadiens and Conny Smythe's announcement yesterday that Charlie Conacher and Murray Armstrong may be sent to the Montreal club next season, makes one wonder as to whether or not Mr. Smythe has an interest in the Flying Frenchmen, under the new setup.

Irvin was popular with the Toronto hockey public and, unless Smythe has soured on him as coach of the Leafs, it is hard to understand why he should let the former Toronto playing star go to Montreal. True, Irvin has not experienced a great deal of success with the Leafs in Stanley Cup finals, but we do not believe the Maple Leafs' directors could hold him responsible for the setbacks.

And why should Smythe be so interested in helping out the Flying Frenchmen, by sending them Conacher and Armstrong, if he was not materially interested? The two players mentioned were loaned to the New York Americans but remained the property of Toronto. Then again, it is possible the Americans are going to pass from the league. Charges of the league since Bill Dwyer got into financial difficulties and gave up the ghost, Red Dutton's men have been a problem. Elimination of the club from the league would reduce the number to six, a much better combination than the present seven-club setup.

Happy Day, who has been chosen to succeed Irvin as coach of the Leafs, will no doubt be just as popular as his predecessor with the Toronto hockey public. Day played two years with the old Toronto St. Patricks before the city's National League franchise was taken over by the Maple Leafs in 1926. He became captain of the club immediately and through the years built up a reputation as a reliable defence man who drew few penalties.

Day was captain under Irvin when the Leafs won the Stanley Cup in 1932, scoring three goals in the playoffs. In 1935-36, he coached West Toronto Nationals to the Dominion senior championship. He coached Toronto Dominion in senior amateur company the following year, at the same time retaining his playing affiliations with the Leafs. Day was sent to the Americans in 1937 in a deal that was said to have given the Leafs the rights to Wally Stanowski, young defenceman now starring with the Leafs, who was on the New York club's negotiation list. Day officiated as a lineman in practically all Toronto's home games during the last two National League seasons.

Boxing lost one of its most colorful figures yesterday in the death at Detroit of Norman Selby, known in the prize ring as Kid McCoy, former holder of the world middleweight championship. Starting his career in 1895, Selby remained active until 1911. During that period he engaged in 100 fights, scoring 31 knockouts; winning 42 decisions; losing 2; drawing 9; no decisions 13, and being knocked out only three times. Selby was put down on the canvas by Tom Sharkey and Jack McCormick in 1899 and by Jim Corbett in 1900. In his career Selby whipped such legendary figures as Peter Maher, Joe Choyanski, Mysterious Billy Smith and Gus Ruhlin.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harry Monk, secretary of the Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, said yesterday the northwest sectional junior tennis tournament, which was supposed to be held here this summer, will not be run off, because of the war.

Instead the Vancouver junior centre tournament will be held here June 28 to 30 to allow British Columbia players to compete.

All during the spring reports kept coming out of the southland that the Boston Red Sox pitching, most flagrant if not only weakness of the Sox last year, would be sparking this season.

It certainly is so far. Lefty Grove shut out the Washington Senators on two hits in the opening game Tuesday. Then young Jim Bagby came right back with another five-hit 7 to 0 shutout against the Senators yesterday.

Jimmy Foxx socked his first home run of the season with two on and the club got seven runs off nine hits. Dominic DiMaggio, the rookie right fielder, hit a double and performed well, even spectacularly, in the field.

The Detroit Tigers may be another troublemaker in the junior circuit. They are glutted with power as long as old Charley Gehringer is at second. He and Hank Greenberg combined to give the Bengals a 4 to 2 decision over the St. Louis Browns yesterday. Greenberg hit a homer with one on, then Gehringer got on base and Greenberg tripled and finally Gehringer hit a homer of his own. Another veteran, Tommy Bridges, contributed careful seven-hit hurling.

The Cincinnati Reds are living up to their spring boasts, too. They nosed out the Chicago Cubs 2 to 1 against with Gene Thompson holding the Bruins to five hits and shutting them out until the ninth, when he made a wild pitch with the bases loaded.

These were the only games yesterday because of continued unfavorable weather.

COAST LEAGUE
Seattle, last year's pennant winner in the Pacific Coast Baseball League, was tied for second place today with San Diego, only half a game behind Oakland.

The Rainiers won their second successive victory over Los Angeles Angels 2 to 1 last night, while Oakland and San Diego lost.

All the scoring in the Seattle-Los Angeles game was in the fourth inning. Lou Stringer, Los Angeles second baseman, smashed out a home run for Los Angeles' only score and the first earned run off Les Webber, Seattle hurler, in 22 innings.

The Rainiers scored their two runs in the same inning on a walk and two hits.

Norbert Kleinke, Sacramento pitcher, was the main reason Oakland was unable to strengthen its hold on the league leadership.

Kleinke issued only six hits as Sacramento defeated Oakland 4 to 2 last night.

The San Diego Padres, who lost to the Hollywood Stars 2 to 0, likewise faced a pitcher who issued only six hits, Wayne Osborne, veteran Hollywood right-hander.

Portland was deeper in the circuit's cellar after dropping the third straight contest to San Francisco, 3 to 2.

REVELLERS WORKOUT
Coach George Deacon of the Revelers, local Big Four Canadian football league team, said today that this week-end's workout will be held Saturday afternoon rather than Sunday morning.

SENIOR TENPIN LEAGUE CHAMPIONS—After one of the keenest races in the history of the league, Watson's captured the championship of the Olympic Senior Tenpin Bowling League. The new titleholders lifted their crown in a playoff with Straith's, three games to one. Watson's had the fine average of 960 for their four games. Paulding copped the high average award for the season with a mark of 197 for 69 games.

United Must Hustle

Oshawa Takes Two Straight

WINNIPEG (CP)—Oshawa Generals capitalized on an early penalty to rush into a two-goal lead then coast to a 4 to 1 victory over Kenora Thistles here last night in the second game of the Canadian junior hockey finals series.

Oshawa, bidding for their second straight crown, won the first game of the best-of-five round 1 to 0 on Tuesday. They will try to take their third straight from the Thistles tomorrow.

In a surprise move, coach Tracy Shaw of Oshawa sent out his second string line to start the game. He sent his first string—Jud and Norm McAttee and Ron Wilson—out fresh at the two-minute mark when Bill Juzda, Kenora defenceman, drew a penalty.

Juzda, voluntary "goal" of the first game when he let Roy Sawyer go by to score the lone goal, had hardly taken his place in the box before Jud McAttee scored. Before he had returned, Orville Smith counted. The plays for both goals were made by Norm McAttee.

THREE GOALS UP
Oshawa struck again when Kenora received its next penalty. As Vince Jorgenson rested in the box, Ron Wilson raced in, carrying the puck on a power play push. He picked up the rubber after pushing it through the defence, and beat Charlie Rayner from close in.

Sawyer, the hero of the first game, counted the fourth Oshawa goal in the second period and it was not until the third session was underway that Thistles tallied for the first time in the series. Pinkie Melnyk scored after stealing a loose puck at the Oshawa blue line.

Thistles blamed the Oshawa build-up and the easterner's reputation for their first defeat. But in the second game it was a back-sliding Oshawa defence and poor shooting that spoiled the best of their chances.

Revellers Workout
Coach George Deacon of the Revelers, local Big Four Canadian football league team, said today that this week-end's workout will be held Saturday afternoon rather than Sunday morning.

The session will be held at 2:30 at Macdonald Park. All junior league players and any others interested are invited to turn out.

Vancouver North Shore will ship over a powerful soccer unit for the important Pacific Coast League—match with Victoria United here tomorrow afternoon at Athletic Park at 3, according to word from the mainland.

The visiting team will be studied with star players, including five members of the British Columbia squad which included San Francisco last year: Jimmy Spencer, Mike McManus, Norm McLeod, Tommy Cummings and Trevor Harvey. And Manager Alan MacSweeney sends along word that he is "confident of victory."

Dr. Arthur Poyntz, manager of the Victoria United, reports he will have his strongest unit in uniform for this big battle, which should prove to be one of the most hotly-contested of the current season.

MAY DECIDE TITLE

The league championship practically depends on the outcome of the game here. League-leading Victoria has only one more game after tomorrow's—with St. Andrews—and has only a point lead over North Shore. The latter has two more games, one with Radials and the other with St. Saviours. Radials, now in third spot and also gunning for the championship, will tangle with Vancouver tomorrow. They then have to play North Shore once and St. Andrews twice.

North Shore line-up follows: Goal, Jack Rabbit; fullbacks, Bob Harrison and Tommy Cummings; halfbacks, Johnny Newbold, Trevor Harvey and Cece Goodheart; forwards, Jimmy Love, Don Matheson, Mike McManus, Jimmy Spencer and Norm McLeod; spares, Harvey Hall and Billy Wolfe.

Horner Retires From Toronto Leafs

TORONTO (CP)—Manager Conny Smythe today announced the retirement of Captain Reg (Red) Horner from the playing ranks of Toronto Maple Leafs to the role of good-will ambassador of the National Hockey League club.

"He'll make speeches for us, generally go places and ring hockey doorbells for us," Smythe said.

Horner, who placed with the Leafs for 11 seasons, led the league in pe lites seven years in a row. He is 32.

ST. LOUIS—Johnny Whittier, 202½, Pontiac, Mich., knocked out Eddie Mader, 190½, New York (four).

Golfer to Live Here

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—Saskatchewan will lose one of its premier golfers this month when Dr. G. B. Bigelow, former open champion of the province and three times amateur titleholder, leaves to reside in Victoria.

Dr. Bigelow will carry with him an enviable golfing reputation for in addition to the Saskatchewan crowns he won the qualifying medal in the Totem Pole Tournament at Jasper in 1939, later worked to the finals where he lost out to Don Thompson of Portland, Ore. During the 1939-40 season he was president of the Prince Albert Golf Club.

Many Fine Games in England

LONDON (CP)—English soccer clubs go into first-round games in the football league's war cup competition tomorrow with prospects of bigger crowds than at any time since the war started. Throughout the country the home offices, announcement that anti-crowding restrictions would be lightened was hailed with enthusiasm.

Sixty-two teams battle for the wartime trophy, and attendances will be limited to 50 per cent of the existing accommodation. This represents a real step towards bigger crowds. In the case of big clubs, gates of approximately 30,000 will be allowed.

First and second division teams get into the fray along with the survivors of the preliminary round played a week ago. The participants start in four geographical divisions with home-and-home games scheduled and goals to decide the winners.

Rangers and Dundee United have emerged as Scottish wartime cup finalists, and until the end of the month interest north of the Tweed will be confined to regional group games. As matters stand, Rangers are likely winners of the west division and Falkirk's chances look particularly good in the east.

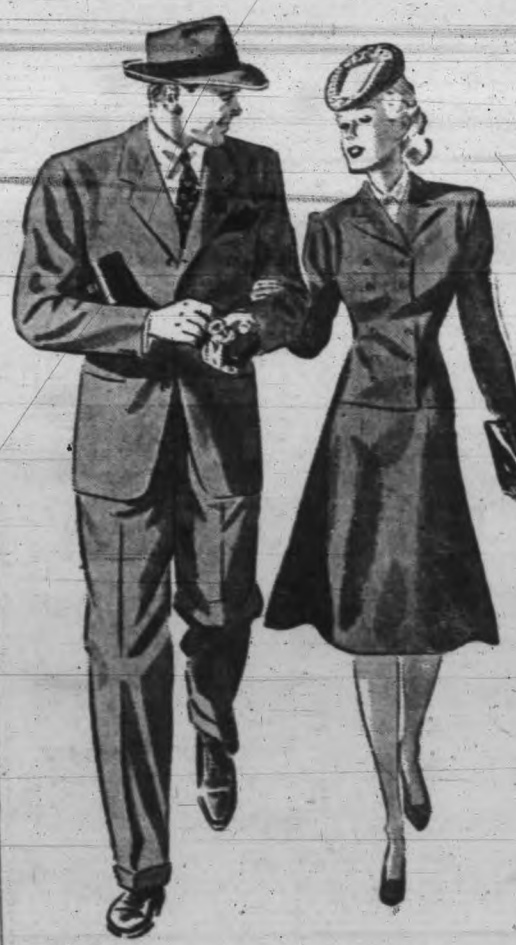

ENGLISH DRAW

London and Midland teams are included in the south "A" division for English Cup play. Arsenal is regarded as a sure winner over Notts County at White Hart Lane, Leicester City may go into the second round at the expense of Clapton Orient and the West Ham United-Chelsea battle should prove one of the best of the London "Derbies."

West Bromwich Albion, and Portsmouth clash at Birmingham in the feature of the south "B" group, while in north "A" Wolverhampton Wanderers are big favorites against Wrexham. A big crowd is expected at Old Trafford for the first of the two games between Manchester United and Manchester City.

Appearance of Sunderland in the cup competition is hailed with satisfaction throughout the north. The wearers have taken no part in regional group play, but are expected to triumph in a north "B" series against Darlington. Huddersfield Town, leader in northeast regional group, opposes Chesterfield, setting the pace in the East Midlands.

In Police Court

Seven 'Wrong Way' Drivers Are Fined

With the majority of the violators protesting they could not see the "one-way road" sign in Beacon Hill Park, seven motorists were fined $2.50 each in City Police Court this morning by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

While the usual fine for "wrong-way" drivers is $5, the court has been letting the "Could Not See the Sign" night-drivers off with $2.50 fines. The magistrate, this morning, however, pointed out there had been a great deal of violations lately and warned that he was not going to let motorists off with reduced fines in future.

George Dixon, R.R. 1, Royal Oak, was fined $10 for failing to give the police a written report of an accident he was involved in within 24 hours after the accident occurred. The accident took place April 9 on Quadra Street. Mr. Dixon did not file a report until April 14.

John Norton was fined $10 for failing to have a driver's license and Magistrate Hall reserved judgment until Monday morning on another charge against Norton for dangerous driving. Norton was involved in an accident at Pandora and Quadra at 9:40 p.m. April 11 with Robert Douglas. Constable Wally Andrews, in giving evidence, said the Norton truck, going west on Pandora, collided with Douglas' car, bound north on Quadra. Norton's car hit the other car broadside and carried it for 63 feet. Both cars went over the curb and came to a stop on the sidewalk.

Both Norton and his brother Williams, said they saw Douglas' car, but thought he was going to stop to give them the right of way.

Two bookmakers were fined $50 each when they pleaded guilty to charges of allowing their premises to be used for the recording of bets contrary to the Criminal Code. Sergeant Roy Woolsey gave evidence.

George Prosscott, 3609 Heron Street, suffered back injuries and fractured ribs yesterday when he fell from a staging at Yarrow. He was taken to Jubilee Hospital.

Congo Hunters Sacrifice Chicken To Idol

Both men and women in the Belgian Congo have "secret societies." They gather in certain places, the men in one spot, the women in another. The men seem to have more of these clubs than the women.

Congo native with a crooked stick, which is the emblem of his secret society.

In one of the secret clubs for men, each member must carry a crooked stick. This is supposed to give him special power. Congo folk tell of gods or demons, and offer sacrifices to them. Sometimes they make images of these beings, and pray to them as to idols.

In a village of the Bushongo tribe, an elephant was killed one day. This meant that something had to be offered as a gift to the hunting idol.

The idol was made chiefly of wood, but there was grass on its head and it was partly covered with cloth. The grass was meant to show hair.

The idol was placed in the only street of the village, and a large crowd gathered around it. In the crowd were several drummers, and they pounded their log drums with might and main.

To the music of the drums, a witch doctor danced in front of the image. Then he picked up a bowl of water, stepped up to the idol, and poured the water on its ear! Another man, smoking a pipe, walked up to the image and blew smoke into its face.

The tom-toms were still beating when a skinny chicken was brought to a point near the image. The chicken was killed with a knife, and the witch doctor went into another dance.

The chicken was supposed to pay the hunting god for the success of the hunters in slaying an elephant. Such customs have been going on for hundreds of years. Christian missionaries have worked long and hard to change the beliefs of the natives, and have met success in some places, but most of Africa's people have kept their old religion.

Natives of the Belgian Congo belong to the Bantu race, and are related to the Zulus of southern Africa. All of the Bantus are classed, in a loose way, as negroes. They have dark brown or blackish skin.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, APRIL 20.

Benefic aspects rule the morning hours, which should be fortunate for the consummation of important plans. The stars encourage activity, freedom, transition. In the afternoon there may be depressing influences which should be forgotten in healthful recreation.

The stars seem to frown upon women today. Judgment may be untrustworthy, especially among girls, who are likely to be restless and dissatisfied under this configuration. There is a sign indicating deceit and even treachery among ambitious women. In politics disappointment is indicated.

The conjunction of Jupiter and Venus in Cancer has been read as most fortunate. The inexhaustible energy and courage of our citizens will be tested this year. Reforms are foreshadowed in social and public relations.

Bulgaria is to furnish front-page news some time this year. In the summer an international pact is to accomplish a short relief from anxiety. Australia should have a favorable summer for agriculture. Strong support of the British Empire in war is presaged.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of steady progress. The health of both men and women should be watched. Children born on this day probably will be extremely bright and quick-witted. Girls will be happy in marriage. Success in middle life awaits boys.

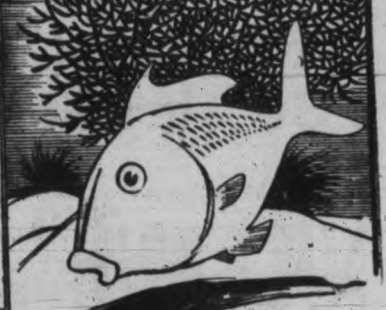

A progressive 500 card party, under the auspices of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, will be held April 22 in Luxton Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bailey, Sooke Road, have as their guest their daughter, Miss Doris Bailey of Vancouver.

HOW MANY YEARS HAVE ELAPSED BETWEEN A DATE IN 60 B.C. AND A CORRESPONDING DATE IN 1940 A.D.?

ANSWER: 1999. The elapsed number of years between a date B.C. and the same date A.D. is one less than the sum of the years. Not all penguins live in the frozen Antarctic. The Galapagos penguin lives in the Galapagos Islands, on the equator.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

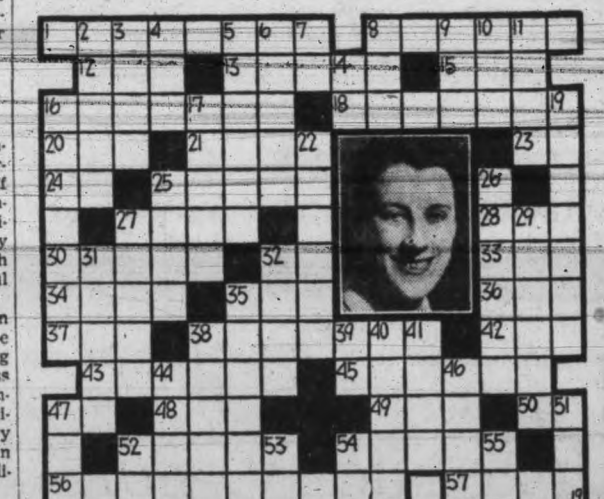

DEAR MISS DIX—A nice young man has asked me to marry him and I am anxious to do so, but my mother forbids it because she is very religious and says it is against the teachings of the Bible for a younger daughter to marry before the older ones. She quotes to me Genesis 29:26, where Laban says: "It must not be done in our country to give the younger before the first born." My sister Lillian got herself in a scandalous affair after her marriage and my mother says that it was because she married in violation of the teaching of the Bible before our oldest sister, and that if I marry also before Ethel does my marriage will result in divorce. Now, Ethel seems unable to get a man no matter how hard she tries, and as she is well in the thirties, it looks as though if I wait to marry until she is married that I will never get married at all. Do you think our mother is right about this?

ANSWER: No, indeed, and you will make a great mistake if you let your mother keep you from marrying the man you love for no better reason than that your oldest sister hasn't found a husband.

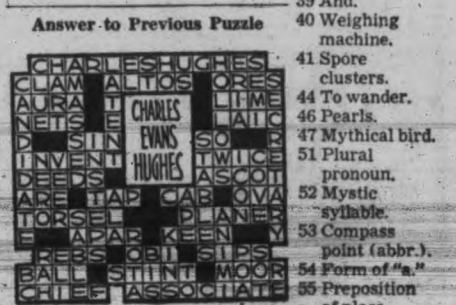

You cannot live modern life according to the conditions that existed hundreds and hundreds of years ago. In Laban's time girls were just so many chattels and fathers disposed of them as they pleased. There was no trouble then in marrying girls off in rotation, because the wedding depended on what sort of a trader a father was and how crafty he was as a salesman. Doubtless it was good business to marry off the oldest in case the younger daughters might be more attractive. But all of that belongs to a bygone age with which we have nothing to do.

Nowadays girls have to do their own husband-hunting, and they should not be handicapped by an older sister's lack of attractions and kept from marrying whenever they find the one they desire.

Music Teachers Hear Of Discipline in Art

"Music teachers make a real contribution to society and we cannot emphasize too much their value to the community," said Ira Dilworth, regional director of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, before members of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, at the 10th annual banquet of the organization held in Spencer's dining-room last night.

Mr. Dilworth spoke to the large gathering on "The Place of Discipline in the Arts," and illustrated literary form in poetry quoted from the works of many famous men, showing how they adhered to pattern or discipline in their works.

frid Ord and their daughter Clemency. The play received warm applause from the gathering.

Reginald Cox, president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, introduced Dudley Wickett, who represented the Musical Arts' Society of Victoria.

Dr. J. E. Watson, a former member of the association, who had been absent because of ill-health, spoke briefly on the early

"We are definitely still living in the later manifestations of a movement which began over 100 years ago—the romantic movement, which is identified with great names and great achievement, and which is responsible for our development of education, democracy and individualism," said the speaker.

"Unfortunately, the movement stressed individualism to a point where this trait went unchecked. Today all around us we see this danger, the danger of unchecked individualism which becomes mad, and throws all convention and ethics to the winds.

"This movement also stressed the fact that genius was essentially spontaneous and fostered individualism. An overflowing of spontaneous emotion in arts results in unpermanence, accomplishment. Discipline is necessary to offset this factor, and in the arts it is called pattern. Pattern is the nucleus of art and makes art effective."

Mr. Dilworth, to illustrate his point to the audience, read several works of famous poets to show how a poet, by following a definite pattern, by the use of diction, rhythm and word patterns, could make his works effective.

"Music teachers have in their hands the key of life itself. They follow a definite pattern the same as in any of the other arts," the speaker said.

The speaker was thanked on behalf of the association by Miss Ethel James.

Mrs. W. A. Jameson presented a motion that the members of the association stand in silent tribute to the memory of the late George Dyke, a former member, who passed away recently.

Two vocal solos by Miss Clemency Ord, "Shepherd and Maiden" and "The Lass With the Delicate Air," were well received by the audience. Miss Ethel James acted as accompanist.

Envoys Return To Balkans

LONDON (CP)—The British envoys to the Balkan states are returning to their posts after visits to this country for purposes of consultation.

"During the nine days or so in which they have been here, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the Commons—the chairmanship of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs (Lord Halifax) outstanding problems presented by the situation in southeastern Europe."

The envoys included the ambassador to Turkey and the ministers to Yugoslavia, Greece, Hungary and Bulgaria, as well as the ambassadors to Italy and Soviet Russia.

SAW WAR CABINET

The Prime Minister said the ministers also had conferred with him and Ronald Cross, Minister of Economic Warfare, and Sir John Reith, Minister of Information, and members of the war cabinet, "with whom they have discussed questions in which these ministers specially are interested."

"His Majesty's representatives also had the opportunity of hearing from Lord Swinton some account of the new United Kingdom Commercial Corporation and of the work which the corporation intends to carry out in order to develop and place permanently on a broader basis trade exchanges between this country and southeastern European states," he said.

Lord Swinton, former air minister, is chairman of the Commercial Corporation established earlier this month, financed by the treasury, to increase British trade in the Balkans, where German and British economic interests compete.

PEACE AND SECURITY

"The purpose of the discussions," the Prime Minister said, "has been in accordance with the settled policy of His Majesty's government—the preservation of peace and promotion of security in the Balkans and the Danubian countries."

"Not one of these states, between whom it is the hope of the Allies to see the growth of mutual understanding, has any cause to fear that the Allies or their forces will ever threaten their independence or integrity."

"In the economic field discussions have been conducted on the basis that it is the policy of His Majesty's government so to develop their relations with these countries as to ensure so far as possible a lasting increase in their commercial exchanges with them."

OTTAWA (CP)—Stanley Burke, president of Boeing Aircraft Company of Canada, was in Ottawa today and it was understood his visit was in connection with contracts for construction of airplane parts. No official information was available.

Powers of India Governors Affirmed

LONDON (CP)—Lord Zetland, Secretary for India, asked the Congress Party to refrain "from closing the door on that unity of India which they themselves so passionately desire," as parliament legalized assumption of legislative and administrative powers by governors in seven provinces where the Congress Party governments resigned last autumn.

The secretary for India, speaking in the House of Lords, promised he would continue to work for reconciliation between the Hindus and Moslems.

"But I realize," he added, "how restricted are my own power and influence, for the plain fact of the matter is that the Congress Party (of Mohandas K. Gandhi) have roused in the minds of many Moslems apprehensions which only they can allay."

Both houses of parliament expressed approval of the government's decision to accept the demand of the Congress Party for complete Indian independence.

Sir Hugh O'Neill, under-secretary to the Indian office, told the House of Commons that the government profoundly regretted the decision of the Congress Party to reject "Dominion status or any other status within the imperial structure" for India.

"The situation is difficult and not without danger," Sir Hugh said. "If civil disobedience were resorted to, His Majesty's government would be bound to take full measures to counteract it. "Ordered government must be carried on, especially in time of war, and I cannot but believe the Congress leaders themselves must recognize this to the full."

COMMITTEES PREPARE

WARDHA, India (CP)—The working committee of the All-India Congress Party last night passed a resolution calling on party committees throughout India to prepare for a declaration of Satyagraha, a campaign of civil disobedience.

NUMEROUS RUMORS

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The western front remained quiet today while the Germans started an offensive in the "war of nerves."

The Nazi propaganda machine, officials here said, now is putting into circulation a host of rumors about the imminence of German military action towards the Balkans in the southeast of Belgium, the Netherlands and Switzerland in the west.

An authorized military spokesman here said there was no information of a military nature to confirm reports of a coming attack on Switzerland. The same source yesterday expressed great reserve as to reports of new German troop concentrations in the east.

On the western front activity was confined to patrol activity, with no incidents reported.
